Ayotte comments on Gazette "evidence"

By Jeff Adams

The mystery as to which alderman saw the 'evidence' of improprieties surrounding the Garlneau Place Shopping Centre was solved at Monday night's Committee of the Whole meeting.

In a May 9th editorial the Gazette noted that only one alderman had asked to see evidence to substantiate the Gazette's earlier claims that city staff acted with undue and suspicious haste in trying to gain approval for a food store in the shopping centre.

Approval of the store would have benefited a group of promoters interested in the property. The site had been approved, by council for shopping and/or office facilities but not for a food store. There would have been a difficult time for the city to sue the paper.

Mr. Ayotte added that "any alderman who was concerned should have gone down there."

Mayor Ron Harvey told the aldermen that he also tried to see the Gazette's evidence but the paper's editor, Ernie Jamison, turned him down.

Mayor Harvey admitted, however, that his visit to the Gazette came after council's motion last Monday to hire Edmonton lawyers for a possible legal suit against the paper. He said that Mr. Jamison told him that from now on the Gazette's evidence against the city will only be made public in a court of law.

Ald. Margaret Smith thanked Mayor Harvey for his efforts to see the Gazette's evidence, noting that he had tried "on our behalf."

Mayor Harvey said after the meeting that as far as he's concerned there'll be no legal suit against the Gazette. "I wouldn't want it anyhow," he said. "Fighting is not in my nature."

Rodeo parade badly in need of floats

This year's Rodeo Parade, now organized by the St. Albert and District Chamber of Commerce, is desperately short of float entries, according to Parade Committee member Germaine Montpetit.

Germaine told the Gazette that 300 entry forms were mailed out to St. Albert and area businesses, but only 14 came back, two for bands and 14 for floats. Last year, there were 64 entries in the parade.

The deadline for returning entries was the end of April, but the lack of entries returned has forced the committee to extend the deadline to the end of May.

Germaine stated that the Please Turn to Page A2

For The Record

If you thought the recent provincial election seemed extremely quiet, how do you feel about the current federal election? National television and the large daily newspapers have focused mainly on the leaders - Trudeau, Clark and Broadbent. Local candidates haven't received a great deal of exposure and at the Gazette, we feel many voters are not sure just where each candidate stands on the issues. In response to reader requests and our own conscience, we devised a questionnaire for the candidates and their answers, we hope, should clarify their respective positions on the 20 issues we chose. The questions and answers appear on page six onward.

P.S. It won't likely be as exciting as the Stanley Cup finals, but then again, the outcome of a hockey game can hardly be compared with the outcome of an election. An errant pass might cost the game, an errant vote May 22 will cast its effects for four or five years. Tonight is your opportunity to pin the candidates down on issues important to you. Attend the Chamber of Commerce Election Forum at 8:00 p.m. tomorrow (Thursday) at V.J. Maloney School on Sir Winston Churchill Avenue.

Mission: very possible

By Marty O'Kell

The boss called me into his office and informed me of my next assignment. It looks like a tuff, but I know I can handle it.

He handed me a self-destructing cassette tape with the information. I calmly slid it into the tape deck, pressed the start button, and listened intently.

"This is your next mission, Mr. O'Kell," the tape began. "You must inform the boss on the quality of hamburgers sold in St. Albert." Interesting assignment thought I. "The boss is a hamburger lover, and would like you to test some local hamburgers, and report back to him with your findings" said the voice on the tape. "Hmmm... who's going to pay for this," I began to wonder. The tape kept on, "We will pay for all expenses incurred by this mission." "Thank-you," I said out loud. Then I realized I had just talked back to a cassette. I must be going crazy.

"You have one week to complete your mission, in five seconds this tape will self destruct. That is all."

My eyes lit up at the thought of this challenging assignment. They began to burn and became irritated. I looked down, the cassette had just self-destructed. The smoke was going in my eyes.

Next week, my findings will be known to the boss. I'll keep in touch.

City begins preparations for annexation hearings

St. Albert's aldermen met in private with lawyers Tuesday night to plan their course of action for the upcoming annexation hearings with the City of Edmonton.

The meeting was in camera, so neither the mayor nor aldermen had much to say about what was discussed.

Mayor Ron Harvey said the council members were briefed by their legal advisors on what kind of problems they can expect in formulating and presenting their annexation briefs to the Local Authorities Board.

Mr. Harvey said events so far indicate that the annexation hearings may take a year-and-a-half to two years to complete and may not even begin until September or October.

Alderman Roger Ayotte said the closed meeting also dealt with hiring consultants to present St. Albert's case at the annexation hearings. The aldermen, he said, have agreed that professionals will be needed. "A majority of council feels they can't do it themselves," he said.

Mr. Ayotte said much of the city's budget for the annexation hearings would go towards paying consultants, but the only choice is to use present city staff to prepare the city's brief, and then people will have to be hired to fill in for them in their absence.

"I do have some concerns about the amount of money we're spending on annexation," he said, "because win or lose, it costs a lot."

Fyfe after closer contact with council

A more formal line of communication between the provincial and municipal governments was the goal behind MLA Myrna Fyfe's appearance at the city's Committee of the Whole meeting Monday night.

Mrs. Fyfe said she wanted to "establish a formal line of communication with council ... for referring complaints that come to me of a local government nature."

This communication, she told the aldermen, could be accomplished through meetings with the mayor, the council and the city manager's office.

Getting "complaints satisfied in the least possible time" will be the goal of this closer liaison, she said. Mrs. Fyfe added that the City of Edmonton's annexation proposal means that she and the council will face many challenges in the coming months. These challenges, she said, will be "better handled in a climate of cooperation."

Mrs. Fyfe left the committee meeting before any aldermen asked her what kind of "formal communication" she really had in mind. When Ald. Liesbeth Bakker directed the question to committee chairman Bill Shields later in the meeting, he suggested that Mrs. Fyfe meant periodic appearances before council, plus the regular meetings and phone conversations that she already has with Mayor Ron Harvey.

Abacus near target on St. Albert Centre

Those of you who read the financial pages have most likely noticed the troubles Abacus Cities has been experiencing of late.

Last week trading of Abacus shares on the Toronto Stock Exchange was suspended when an auditor's report showed Abacus losses at $1.78 million in 1978.

Monday the Bank of Montreal appointed a manager-receiver over Abacus and demanded payment by Abacus of $1.57 million in loans. Abacus says they will oppose the Bank of Montreal move and that they were not in default of payment to the bank.

The company recently sold Millbourne Shopping Centre in Mill Woods in an attempt to strengthen its cash flow and is negotiating with a Vancouver firm for another $100 million deal in other Abacus holdings.

Close to home, a Gazette interview with Abacus officials found no change in plans for the regional shopping centre - St. Albert Centre. Keith Bruce, leasing manager for the Centre says Poole Construction should begin pouring the huge nine acre concrete slab which will support the complex in the next couple of days. The long winter resulted in frost remaining in the ground longer than usual thus preventing an earlier start.

A look at the tenants slated for the new centre shows a long list of national chains and very few local merchants. To date only one Grandin merchant will be moving over; Armstrong's Men's Wear. St. Albert Optometrist Dr. Muncy will be opening a women's accessories shop called Etc. Etc. There will be a few shops with head offices in Edmonton including a couple of the food kiosks, but that's it for local content.

Mr. Keith explained that the reason behind going with the national chains was their proven performance in a regional shopping centre situation and the fact they are definite traffic drawers. Almost all the stores will be familiar to shoppers who frequent the larger Edmonton malls.

Looking at a schematic of the shopping centre floorplan Mr. Keith commented that we are "proud of what we have accomplished." Referring to the line-up of stores he said "I think that when it opens, St. Albert residents will not mind the wait they're going through."

The shopping centre will be "weighted" toward fashion with eight ladies wear stores, four men's wear stores, five show stores and two or three 'unisex' stores. All of these are in addition to the two major department stores, The Bay and Woolco, and western Canada's largest Safeway store.

The nationals pay lower space rental rates but higher percentage rates on gross sales.

Rents range from $13 - $25 per square foot and percentage rates run from 5 - 10 percent. The store pays whichever sum works out to be greater.

Rents average about $18 per square foot with the food kiosks the highest at $35 - $40 and the fashion stores the lowest at $14 to $18.

St. Albert Centre is slated to open during the first or second week of May 1980. It was originally scheduled for fall 1978, then spring 1979 followed by the fall of 1979.

Abacus tells us that this time the date will not change. Keep your fingers crossed.

Rodeo parade floats

Continued From Page A 1 parade definitely needs many more floats and bands, and that a town this size should have no problem getting many more entries.

The parade, scheduled for June 16, will have a new route this year, but details haven't been finalized yet.

For those that have forms already, mail them to the Chamber of Commerce, 22 Perron Street, St. Albert. You can also get more information or an entry form by calling Germaine or Roger at 459-5535.

Kids can also get in the act by dressing up their bikes. There will be a prize for the best decorated two wheeler.

Correction

In an article in last week's Gazette entitled "Driving School Owner Unhappy with Board," two corrections are in order. Contrary to the heading, the Separate School Board did not invite the AMA to give lessons at the school. The AMA made a request to use a classroom during the noon hour for the instruction of driving theory to students. The request was granted by the administration, not by the board. The St. Albert Driving School was offered the same provision after its owner, Glen Lansborough complained about the AMA's use of the classroom. However, the local school has not moved to accept the offer.

Trustees upset with real estate sales tactics

The matter has arisen at Protestant School Board meetings in the past. Wednesday trustees elected to do something about the practice by some real estate agents of 'promising' schools in new areas.

Trustee Shirley McCaffery said she had received a telephone call from a woman who was looking into buying a home in the new Woodlands subdivision. The woman told Mrs. McCaffery that a real estate agent had told her an elementary school would be built nearby by next January. She asked Mrs. McCaffery if this was so. It wasn't.

Trustee McCaffery telephoned the real estate agent who told her that "it was tough to sell homes in a new area without schools." The other trustees were visibly upset with the idea that a real estate agent would 'make-up' a story about a school's construction so that he or she might sell a house.

Trustee Scott Friese reminded Board members that this case was not the first the Board had heard. He said a potential purchaser is dealing with a salesman and not likely to get important information of this sort from the city. He asked that the Board send a letter to the "Real Estate Licensing Authority" and ask that that body do something to eliminate the problem. He said he was "not convinced it (the letter) will get the desired result but, at least the Board won't be accused of not trying." A motion to send a letter carried.

Trustee McCaffery then moved that the District's school construction information be sent to the City of St. Albert so that buyers would have access to it. Trustee Ernie Wynychuk asked that the city be asked to erect signs on the school sites to date school construction at the same time the information was sent. The motion carried.

Later in the same meeting the subject arose again when Trustee Shirley McCaffery moved that a letter also be sent to local real estate agents explaining construction schedules. The motion carried 3-2 with Mr. Friese commenting that sending a letter to the real estate agents would be of no value and Trustee Garry Hodgins jokingly suggesting to Superintendent Gish that "You now have the authority to do something of no value." Mr. Gish later expressed some doubt as to whether the letter to agents would have any positive effect or whether it would merely end up thrown in the wastebasket. He felt that the responsibility of finding out when and if a school would be built nearby lay with the buyer. After all he is investing between $80 and $100 thousand or more.

Highway corridor hearing tonight

Alternative plans for the St. Albert Trail (widening, etc.) will be discussed this evening at a public meeting in the Club Mocombo. The meeting gets underway at 7:30 p.m.

Any persons or groups should make it a point to attend the meeting and put forward any suggestions or comments they feel might be helpful in directing the course of the study.

City to work on written tender policy

To avoid any embarrassment in the future, St. Albert's aldermen have asked for a written policy to deal with tenders for goods and services to the city.

The motion for a tender policy came at Monday night's Committee of the Whole meeting. It was prompted by a letter of complaint to the aldermen from Calmont Leasing Ltd. of Edmonton. The letter stated that city staff made a verbal commitment to Calmont to lease trucks from them, and then, after managing to make the city's present vehicle supplier offer comparable rates, the staff ignored their prior arrangement with Calmont.

The president of Calmont, L. G. Desharnais, wrote to the aldermen that "this type of action by a City employee is of great concern to us as whenever we submit quotations we ask that they be kept confidential."

The city's director of Public Works, Don Corrigan, defended his staff by noting in a letter to city manager Bob Byron that Calmont's rental rates were never made public. The city simply informed its present vehicle supplier that its rental rates weren't competitive anymore, the supplier asked by how much they were overpriced, city staff made an estimation and the supplier agreed to match the rates and even undercut them.

Mr. Corrigan added that Calmont never mentioned that their rates were confidential and, in fact, they were common knowledge since the City of Edmonton's rates were the same.

He concluded that the city's employee had acted in all honesty but to avoid any suggestion of impropriety in the future, public tenders will be called, complete with a public opening of the tenders, beginning on Wednesday, May 30 at 2 p.m.

City Manager Byron told the aldermen at Monday night's meeting that the city doesn't have any written tender policy at present but "I understand the need for one." He said he would make sure that one was written out for future purchase of goods and services by the city.

Hospital receives "Surgi-Lift"

Captain Paul Poulin and Volunteer Firefighter Ron Salmon (both in centre) recently presented a "Surgi-Lift" to Sturgeon General Hospital Administrator, Clifford Keyes (right). The funds for this $900 piece of equipment were collected by volunteer and full-time firefighters during the period 1959 - 1977.

The medical Surgi-Lift is used in conjunction with an x-ray transfer sheet which is placed on all ambulance cots.

It is designed to minimize patient handling when the patient (in this case Emergency Medical Tech. Norm Maasz) has suffered a pelvic and/or back injury. The Surgi-Lift is placed over the ambulance cot and the x-ray transfer sheet is locked into place by attaching a series of straps to the locking devices on the lift. The patient is then lifted off the ambulance cot and placed onto the emergency bed or x-ray table for continued examination. Paramedic Mike Boyd (left) was on hand to demonstrate the equipment's uses.

The Skeptics Tank

By Vicky Knight

The late, late news: 2100 A.D.

As I was listening to the current round of electoral promises; some empty, some not, I was struck by the consistency of Canadian political issues. Every year the same old turkeys are trotted out, people long since having become numb to the justice or injustice of the issues. Mollycoddling criminals, decriminalization of marijuana, the relative merits of party leaders, Quebec's cultural autonomy, the bleat goes on. This led me to some cynical thoughts about the speed of the political process. For instance, imagine a news broadcast as it might be sometime about 2100 A.D. ...

Good evening Canadians, Quebecers, Albertans, Doukhobors and CUPE. This is Jackie Jargon of CARP News with the latest happenings in the Fractured Federation of the Five Nebulous Nations.

The difficulties at the Fort Saskatchewan Provincial Jail in Alberta continue today. The trouble flared over the quality of meals which the inmates claim is "not even cuisine rainceur!" Jail administrators were taken aback at the protest, as a new chef had been appointed only the previous day. The new man comes to the prison from the dining room of the Ritz-Carleton in Montreal. However, the prisoners remain unimpressed at the chef's Cordon Bleu credentials. Today they issued a strong statement expressing their outrage at the banal quality of the chaud-froid, saying the chef's garnishes lacked wit. They also complained about the quality of the Oeufs Benedictes.

"We demand a soupcon of cayenne in the Hollandaise," said an indignant inmate spokesman.

The prison's gourmet circle is currently inviting master chefs from Maxim's of Paris, the Waldorf in New York and the "21" Club to apply. The group says the new man's duties won't be onerous as this year's escape tally has reduced the prison population to 11.

The Prime Minister announced today that his government would work for the decriminalization of marijuana if elected in the 2104 election. There was no comment on that from NORMAL, the National Organization to Reform Marijuana Laws, whose president and founder passed away this week at the age of 104.

In a related story, protest was raised yesterday, against Monday's dawn narcotics raid on the High Haven Home for Senior Citizens. Fourteen arrests were made and several ambulances were required to transport the aging flower children to the lock-up. Twenty-seven pounds of cannabis sativa were seized in the raid. The old folks claim they were smoking the stuff to ward off glaucoma.

Alberta Premier Grant Notley 111 today purchased three Third World countries, using the interest for a month from the Heritage Trust Fund. The three new acquisitions, all in tropical climates, will be used as winter playgrounds for Albertans who say they are turned off in Tahiti and jaded in Jamaica. When asked about the Fund's current total, Mr. Notley said he did not have the energy to read out the long figure.

The bronzed statues of three former Canadian Prime Ministers were unveiled today in Ottawa. Peter Waterhole is seen addressing a delegation representing small business, senior citizens and the unemployed. The engraved caption below reads "Tell Someone Who Cares!" Joe Claque is seen astride a horse which is attempting to race off in all directions; and finally Ed Wadspen is portrayed standing astride two horses, one with red reins and the other with blue. Old Ed can be seen to be holding both.

When asked point blank about his stand on separation of provinces such as Quebec, Mr. Claque said he could not in all conscience deny French Canadians the right to self realization. He also said French Canadians can be permitted to enjoy no special status under the constitution. He continued saying his party was willing to negotiate an agreement for sovereignty association between Canada and a separate Quebec. He concluded, saying a Tory government would not be an administration of confrontation or concession, compromise or conciliation.

"And I mean exactly what I say," said Mr. Claque flatly.

The St. Albert Legion Hall was jammed to capacity last Wednesday when residents of St. Albert, Edmonton and surrounding districts gathered to hear from Finance Minister Jean Chretien. Chretien visited St. Albert to express his support for Pembina Liberal candidate Len Nobert.

"I'm a French Canadian Pea Souper

In addition to Mr. Nobert, several other Liberal candidates were present from Edmonton ridings. Joining Mr. Chretien and the candidates at the head table were Dick Fowler, chairman of the St. Albert Summer Games and Eva Nobert, wife of the local candidate.

The St. Albert Chamber of Commerce had originally been asked to host Mr. Chretien as part of their regular meeting. However, the group refused on the grounds that it was "too political." The local Chamber sent no official representatives, while the Edmonton Chamber sent four. The mayor's office was apparently informed of the luncheon but no representatives of the city were in attendance.

Liberal candidate Len Nobert introduced the finance minister, commending him for his work in that portfolio. He said that Mr. Chretien had ties with Alberta as several relatives reside here.

Dr. Nobert reviewed Mr. Chretien's career, beginning with his graduation from Laval University in the faculty of law. He was admitted to the bar in 1958 and became the MP for St. Maurice in 1963. He went on to appointments as parliamentary secretary to then Prime Minister Lester Pearson, and to the Minister of Finance of the Pearson government. He was then admitted to the cabinet where he served as Minister Without Portfolio, Minister of Indian Affairs and Northern Development; President of the Treasury Board; Minister of Industry, Trade and Commerce and finally to his present position as Minister of Finance. He concluded by saying Mr. Chretien had been on the road for 14 days, something only a "true Grit" could do.

Soon after Mr. Chretien launched his speech, he had the audience laughing appreciatively as he related how his grandfather came to settle in Alberta.

"My grandfather had a hotel in Shawinigan," he said. "His house was right next door to the hotel and the priest's house was next door to him. Like any good

Chretien packs Legion Hall

hotelier, he drank as much as he sold. Finally my grandmother announced that they would move away to the west, to get away from sin. As a result, the couple made the long trek to Alberta. They settled in St. Paul, which Mr. Chretien's grandfather said was "three buggy days north of Edmonton."

"When he got there," the finance minister concluded, "he drank three times as much!"

PROSPERITY NOTED

Turning to political matters, Mr. Chretien remarked on the evidence of prosperity and growth he had observed in Edmonton. With tongue in cheek he commented that the Alberta conservatives had used the current prosperity as evidence of their good government. However, he said that during the period of growth, the liberals had been in power federally.

... and proud of it!"

Commenting on the state of the national economy, Mr. Chretien said that economic affairs in Canada were in better shape than in most countries.

"I'm the Minister of Finance," he said. "So I should be depressed? No, I am ebullient. The last few years have been the worst for western democracies since the war. However, in this time Canada has not had a recession, as they have in the U.S. We are the only nation with a labour force that is growing. In one year, we put 400,000 Canadians to work."

Mr. Chretien said that when he met with other finance ministers and members of the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank, they were not impressed by the gravity of Canadian economic woes. He stated they usually commented that they wished they had his problems.

In regard to the devalued dollar, he stated he "got a lot of flack" from the business community. "They said 93 cents was awful, 92 was worse but that now 88¢ is alright."

ECONOMY SOUND?

"He cited the healthy condition of the pulp and paper industry as proof that Canada is not in the economic straits described by the Conservatives. He said the Shawinigan mill was operating at 105 percent capacity. The steel industry, too, is producing at full capacity he commented, and most sectors of the economy are doing well. He also referred to gas shortages in the U.S., saying that this situation does not exist here. He said Canadians had to be realistic, but that the desire for more served as motivation to increase productivity.

Viva La Canada!

"That's why I'm not a socialist," he concluded.

Mr. Chretien had some harsh words for Tory leader Joe Clark. He said Clark switched positions depending on to whom he was talking, and as an example said that Clark maintained at one point that his party would cut the deficit, while promising shipping subsidies at another occasion.

"When Joe Clark was my critic of Indian Affairs, with Flora MacDonald, I used to call them the Flora and the Fauna. I had to tell him there was a thousand million in a billion and he still doesn't know it!"

To further buttress his defence of Liberal economic management, he stated that although his government had asked for a budget of 12.1 million, only 11.3 of that amount was used.

Regarding the question of two official languages, Mr. Chretien said that French should be an asset and not a big problem.

"I'm a French Pea-Souper and proud of it. I'm not less of a Canadian for that."

In speaking of his party's leader, Prime Minister Trudeau, Mr. Chretien said some people find him "colorful," but that he was a leader. He cited Trudeau's move at the Bonn Summit to persuade the other countries to develop machinery to stop hijacking.

"There will be another summit next year," he commented. "And you want Joe Clark there?"

He concluded his address by pointing out the great amount of freedoms that Canadians enjoy compared to other countries, and said he was in the fight to make sure we keep them. He warned Canadians against complacency, and said it was important that his party get some members from Alberta.

"Viva La Canada" he declared in closing.

PRESS CONFERENCE HELD

Following the luncheon, members of the media were granted a brief question and answer session. He said the federal government should be able to tax across the land, on the basis that those who have more pay more. In regard to the price of Alberta natural gas, he said the federal government wanted to achieve international levels eventually. He stated they would "look at the situation as it comes." On the subject of petrocan, he said, the corporation should not buy all its oil, but defended the corporation's necessity saying that foreign governments wanted to deal with the government, not with large oil companies.

Election spending limited by new law

Spending by candidates and political parties will be strictly limited in the May 22, Federal General Election.

For the first time in a general election, the spending of money on election campaigns will be governed by a formula which establishes in advance the maximum expenses permitted by parties and by candidates in each of Canada's 282 electoral districts.

OTHER SIGNIFICANT CHANGES ARE

*A new system of partial reimbursement of election expenses to candidates will be in effect, and there will be a partial rebate of broadcasting costs to political parties.

*The names of contributors to parties and candidates must be recorded and disclosed in all cases where a contribution exceeds $100.

*Contributors to parties and candidates will be eligible for an income tax credit on a portion of their contribution.

Roger Dube, director of Election Financing in the office of the Chief Electoral Officer, is responsible for administering the provisions of the Canada Elections Act dealing with campaign spending and reporting by candidates and parties.

"We have taken the message directly to candidates, their agents and campaign workers in each province through a series of informational seminars to give everyone an opportunity to become familiar with the legislation and regulations," Mr. Dube says.

The limit on spending by a candidate is established by a formula which depends on the number of names on the preliminary lists of electors in a district.

The basic formula is: $1 per name for the first 15,000 names, plus 50 cents per name between 15,001 and 25,000, plus 25 cents per name for the number of names over 25,000.

"If we consider an average district with 50,000 names on the preliminary list, then a candidate in that district would be limited to election spending of $26,250 by this formula," Mr. Dube points out.

The Elections Act also sets a spending limit for each "registered" political party. (A registered party is one which is registered with the Chief Electoral Officer and either was represented in the House of Commons on the day before dissolution or which before the 30th day prior to polling day has nominated candidates in at least 50 electoral districts. Each party is limited in spending to 30 cents for each name on the preliminary list of electors of all electoral districts where the party has endorsed an official candidate.

CANDIDATES WILL GET SOME MONEY BACK

In conjunction with spending limits, registered parties and candidates may be reimbursed for part of their expenses.

"On average, a candidate might be reimbursed for one half more or less of his or her total expenses," Mr. Dube says.

"As an example, in a district where there are 50,000 names on the preliminary lists, it is possible the candidate might be reimbursed a maximum of $12,000. The candidate would receive 17 cents per name, plus eight cents for each of the first 25,000 names and six cents for the remaining 25,000, or a total of $12,000."

A candidate, to qualify for reimbursement, either must be elected or obtain 15 percent of the valid votes. This qualification also applies to the return of the candidate's $200 deposit that is required to run for office.

"Based on by-election experience, we can estimate that reimbursement to candidates might amount to some $9 million, assuming an average of 2.5 candidates qualify for $12,000 in each of the 282 electoral districts," Mr. Dube says. "In addition, half the cost of 6½ hours of broadcasting time for parties will be rebated, and this could total $3 million."

Mr. Dube points out that the intent of Parliament, in establishing this system, was to curtail large spending by wealthy candidates and parties and to make it more practical for those of lesser financial means to run for office.

"It is designed to remove the financial barriers and to open up political office to those of moderate means," he says.

Spending limits for each candidate in the election will be determined at least 30 days before polling day, and returning officers will inform candidates and their agents of these limits.

EXPENSE REPORT MUST BE FILED

Each candidate must file a report with the returning officer within four months after the election - the return setting out all expenses, plus a breakdown of contributions of money, goods and services, and a list of the names of contributors who donated more than $100. A summary of this return will be published in a local newspaper.

"It is important that each candidate understand that returns must be filed and that spending limits be adhered to," Mr. Dube says. "This may mean a change of practice by candidates. For instance, while scrutineers were often paid in the past, this now may be impractical since this cost would have to be included in expenses on which there are limits."

Failure to file returns or to keep within expense limits carry penalties on conviction.

The Commissioner of Canada Elections is empowered to investigate alleged breaches of the law and lay charges if necessary.

City considers limited access on Mont Clare Place

Reopening Mont Clare Place at McKenney Avenue to limited traffic is an idea that the city is considering to relieve traffic problems at Sturgeon General Hospital.

At Monday night's Committee of the Whole meeting city aldermen passed a motion instructing staff to study the feasibility and cost of limited access from Mont Clare Place onto McKenney Avenue.

The move was prompted by complaints from the Sturgeon General Hospital Board that far too much traffic was passing through their property. The hospital roadway is a convenient route for cars travelling northwest from downtown.

If Mont Clare Place is reopened much of the traffic travelling through the hospital grounds will be diverted.

The Committee of the Whole first considered opening the street to full traffic. Ald. Barry Breadner said he recalled "that there was a considerable controversy in the early 1970's that led to the closure." It would only be "with the greatest reluctance," he said, that he would want the street reopened to full traffic.

Mayor Ron Harvey said the heavy traffic moving through the hospital grounds creates "a menace there at the moment."

The aldermen agreed that the problem with keeping Mont Clare Place closed is that emergency vehicles are denied a convenient route to the hospital. Limited access on the street should stop through traffic but allow emergency vehicles to pass by.

In his monthly report to the Committee, city manager Bob Byron outlined several matters that have to be considered if Mont Clare Place is reopened.

The existing road between McKenney Avenue and Mont Clare Place is on Sturgeon Hospital property and an 18-metre easement or road allowance must be granted to accommodate a roadway.

Because Mont Clare Place, McKenney Avenue and Mount Royal Drive will become connecting roads, there will be far more traffic on them, producing more noise and danger for local residents and students of nearby St. Albert High School.

Also, the two junctions at either end of Mont Clare Place -- at McKenney and St. Vital Avenues -- are both located on curves, which can only become more dangerous as traffic in the area increases.

Next week is Cerebral Palsy Week

Sunday will mark the commencement of Cerebral Palsy week in Alberta. Senator Ernest Manning has been appointed honorary chairman for this year's campaign which is directed at increasing public awareness.

The Cerebral Palsy Association in Alberta has been in existence as a province-wide organization since 1976, although several local organizations have been in existence for a number of years.

One of the primary objectives of the CPAA is to make the public aware of persons with this physical disability and that they can integrate into the normal society. The Handicapped Registry in Edmonton has indicated that there are over 2,000 persons with physical disabilities in the Province. Many of these are severely disabled, thus requiring custodial care.

A high point of this Cerebral Palsy week will be the sale of its Nationally registered flower, the red carnation. When it is on sale the Association hopes that people will buy it simply to demonstrate that they are aware of the condition and they are willing to attempt integration of the physically disabled into normal society.

Presentations in the news

On hand for the representation were Student Union President Lyle Soetaert, Principal John Kaminski, Father Joly, Mr. Garrity (starvation co-ordinator) and Mr. Hogel (talent show co-ordinator).

What the doctors prescribe for Alberta ...

The Alberta Medical Association held their annual meeting at the St. Albert Inn last Wednesday and the doctors had several important messages for the public. The Gazette talked to Dr. Dick Winter, District 7 representative on the Board of Directors of the AMA, and he told us what was on the doctors' minds on several topics.

***

On seat belts: Dr. Winter said while the association realized that seat belt legislation was difficult to enforce, their required use under the law would encourage at least a small percentage of people to buckle up. He emphasized that even a few lives saved would make the legislation worthwhile.

On sex education in the schools: Dr. Winter betrayed a flicker of frustration as he said that the AMA had been trying to get Family Life Education into the schools for years. He commented that there were 5000 abortions performed in Alberta last year, of which "probably 40 percent" were teen-agers. The doctors would also like to see changes made to the age of consent at which youngsters can receive Family Planning counselling. Presently, a person must be 17 to receive such counsel without parental permission. The doctors would like to see this changed to 16.

On abortion: the doctors want abortion taken out of the criminal code. Dr. Winter remarked that the present system is inconsistent as some hospitals won't do any abortions.

On the prescribing of drugs: Dr. Winter states that doctors "administer very few drugs now. Only the patient can help him or herself in many cases." He said that the doctors had made this change themselves with the help of the pharmacists, who pointed out instances of over-prescription to the doctors. Mr. Winter added that the problem of a patient visiting several doctors who all belong to one clinic is a common circumstance of overprescription.

On Balance Billing: Despite all the publicity, Dr. Winter says the doctors do not consider this an issue, as the right to adjust a bill for extra services has always been part of the arrangement. He cited the fact that doctor's gross earnings went up 7.8 percent since the removal of wage and price controls, as well as the statement that their net income from fees increased 5.9 percent, figures the doctors feel are modest compared to other increases. He said doctors were having to offer more services, work longer hours while receiving less money.

On the B.C. Compulsory Addiction Therapy Program: Dr. Winter stated firmly that his group was not in favour of such a program. "They tried it for 40 years in California and they recently abandoned the scheme."

On Hyperactive Kids and Food Additives: The doctors feel that some hyperactivity may be due to diet but feel it is not a universal cause. Dr. Harvey Albrecht, president of the local branch of the AMA, said he believed that a parent's belief in his or her child's hyperactivity might arise from the fact the parent has a very different rate of activity. He said there are three types of parents: sedentary, moderately active and very active. He said that the three types also appeared in children. When a sedentary parent finds himself with a very active child, he might jump to conclusions and pin a label of hyperactivity on the child when its really incompatibility.

Dr. Albrecht said that various non-professionals had postulated causes for hyperactivity and other learning disabilities but that most theories could not be universally applied. He said one child might be put on a sugar-free, additive-free diet and suddenly become calm and organized. He said, however, that it isn't known if this is from the diet or the power of suggestion. He said a similar phenomenon can be observed when some patients with colds have an immediate favourable response to large doses of Vitamin C.

Lacombe Museum opening Saturday

A firsthand encounter with the history of St. Albert becomes available to residents and visitors with the opening of the Father Lacombe Museum on May 19. Located immediately west of the Catholic Church on St. Vital Avenue, the museum consists of the original log church, artifacts and displays relating to the early mission period.

In April of 1861, Father Lacombe with a work-party of Metis helpers from this area, known then as Big Lake, constructed St. Albert's first building with spruce trees cut from the south side of the river. These were rafted across the river and hauled to the original building location which is today the site of the Father Lacombe statue.

In 1929, the log church was dismantled, repaired and re-assembled on its present location with a brick outer shell to protect it from the elements. A Provincial Historic Site, it is significant now as the oldest known and confirmed standing building in Alberta. But to the missionary from St. Surplice, Quebec, it was his church and home; the base point for ministry to his beloved Metis and Indians. They honored him with the names "Noble Soul," and "Man with a kind heart."

Miss Shelleyasetti, a university history student, will supervise the museum from Wednesday through Sunday, 1 to 8 p.m., from May 19 to June 29. She will then be joined by part time staff to open the museum from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. every day during the summer months. Visitors will also be welcome on Monday, May 21.

Copies of "St. Albert, a Pictorial History" are available at the museum for $9.95, as well as hasti-notes depicting the mission and other sites, by local artist Keith Bell. A friendly in-itation is extended to all by the St. Albert Historical Society, operator of the museum.

St. Albert figures in '78 road deaths

Motor vehicle accidents in Alberta, as reported to Alberta Safety Council by the Transportation Safety Branch, accounted for 504 deaths and 19,466 persons injured, during 1978. St. Albert figures in the statistics.

The 504 traffic deaths occurred in 424 fatal accidents. Edmonton reported 56 deaths, Calgary 52, Lethbridge 5, Red Deer 2, Grande Prairie 2, St. Albert 2, Medicine Hat and Stettler, 1 death each. The RCMP reported 354 deaths.

The Alberta Safety Council expresses concern over the high death and injury figures for 1978. Countermeasures such as seat belts are readily available to vehicle occupants, but too few people wear them.

An Alberta seat belt law would have an immediate effect in reducing death and injury on our road system in 1979, points out the Alberta Safety Council. Cameron Harmer, president of the Council, strongly urges Premier Lougheed to act without delay in implementing such legislation.

Protestant Board Briefs

WILD ROSE POND

The nature pond at Wild Rose Elementary School will remain with some modifications to make it safer for small children.

District administrators looked the site over and concluded the best solution would be had by landscaping to partially fill in the pond thus allowing a maximum water depth of 18 inches.

Seeding of grass will also take place around the pond area. The Board spent $100 this spring having water pumped from the site to lower the level. The pond is used by the students in nature studies.

ARCHITECT APPOINTED

The Board approved the appointment of William Hnidan as architect for the Akinsdale school. The District will save approximately $60,000 in architect's fees by using Mr. Hnidan rather than another architect. Mr. Hnidan was able to pass along the 2.75% saving when the Board opted to go with his W.D. Cuts school plans on the Akinsdale site. W.D. Cuts school opened last fall in Lacombe Park right on schedule, another factor in the Board's decision to once again acquire Mr. Hnidan's services.

Akinsdale school will be an elementary/junior high facility, the first school to be built in the area. A 'name the school' competition was agreed to by the Board. Details will come forth at the May 23 meeting.

TEACHERS SECONDED

Two Protestant District teachers, Mr. Fred Schoenrock and Miss Patricia McKim will be leaving the district next year to spend a year with the U of A's Practicum Committee.

Both teachers will see duty training teachers to teach and their appointments are seen as a 'feather in the cap' of the District. Few District's have teachers chosen for secondment and very few have two chosen. The quality of applicants for the positions is always very high according to Superintendent Elmer Gish.

The superintendent, in response to a question by Trustee Scott Friese, said the District would benefit through the experience gained by the teachers which would be reflected in increased competency. He added that it was also likely the University would return the favour when the District had need of its help.

Mr. Schoenrock will be working with secondary level teachers and Miss McKim will be at the elementary level.

BRIGGS GETS BUS CONTRACT

Once again Briggs Bros. Student Transportation has been awarded the Protestant District busing contract. No one else bid on the contract. A daily bus route of up to 32 miles will cost the Board $63 and each mile over 32 will be an additional 66¢.

No. 533 RC(Air) C Squadron

St. Albert Air Cadets in Review

By F/Sgt. C. Leibel

Annual inspection, held on Thursday, May 10, drew a big crowd which came to observe #533 Squadron in action. The evening began when the master of ceremonies, WO11 R. Fecteau introduced the reviewing officer, Col. D. F. Garland and other distinguished guests. The guest list included a representative of Air Cadet League, Mayor Harvey, Al Adair and a member from our sponsoring body, the Lions Club.

The evening started with the inspection of the flights, colour party and the band. The inspection was made by inspecting officer, Col. D. F. Garland as well as Major F. A. Maybee and distinguished guests. It was followed by a march past for which the band provided music.

Various displays followed the inspection. The band display led by Drum Major Cpl. B. Baumen, performed various forms while they showed off their musical talents to our viewers.

The senior drill team also performed a bit of their sequence known as 'Precision Drill'. It consists of the formation of a star, a "H," and a XYZ formation as well as a slow march display.

Addresses by our guests followed:

At this time, Major F. A. Maybee presented awards to the following cadets: the Lynch Trophy (most dedicated cadet), went to WO11 R. Yates, (most co-operative cadet) went to Sgt. B. Ward, (best first year achievement) went to L.A.C. J. Crerar, outstanding bandsman junior went to LAC J. Rusnak, outstanding bandsman senior went to Sgt. P. Quaghebeur and F/Sgt. C. Leibel, most valuable bandsman went to Cpl. D. Allan, outstanding junior NCO went to Cpl. J. Smith, outstanding senior NCO went to WO1 L. Rogers and last but not least Cadet of the Year was presented to WO 11 R. Fecteau.

To express our appreciation each instructor was presented with a small plaque bearing the Air Cadet crest. The instructors are Mr. Mitch Cadey - flying scholarship, Mr. Dick Cousineau - effective speaking, Mr. Don Fraser - first aid, Mr. J. Yacey - electronics, Mr. Ron Turner - airframe - Sgt. Mo. Wolff (BF RCMP) - photography and Mr. Ron Gilham - aero engine.

On behalf of #533 squadron, thank you instructors for making the year of 1978-79 more enjoyable.

Each and every cadet was awarded with a pin for 100 percent attendance. There were first, second and third year attendance pins given, as well as fourth and fifth year pins for perfect attendance. The four year pins went to Sgt. F. Lalor, Sgt. B. Ward, F/Sgt. M. Grieve and WO1 L. Rogers. There are only two fifth year cadets: F/Sgt. L. Hymers and WO11 R. Fecteau.

After the presentation of awards, the annual inspection was completed. An open house was held at the Community Hall. This involved displays from every course: a band display, a supply display, an administration display, a film presentation by ex-cadet Trevor Cousineau and free coffee, pop and doughnuts for all.

Saturday, May 12, #533's senior drill team competed in the Provincial Drill competitions against a Calgary Squadron and unfortunately placed second in Alberta after four years of being first.

Congratulations members for a great effort and better luck next year.

The main upcoming event is a Camp Wright weekend camp open to all cadets. Further details to be released.

There will be no band or colour practice Monday, May 21 due to the long weekend.

Any information about joining #533 Squadron can be obtained at the Community Hall, Thursday evenings at 07:00 p.m.

Assiniboia Hall saved by board

The affection which the University of Alberta's Board of Governors holds for heritage buildings was demonstrated at a recent meeting of the Board.

A motion calling for the demolition of Assiniboia Hall was quashed by the Board and the 66 year old building will remain aligned with two other historical buildings, Pembina Hall and Athabasca Hall.

It is likely that the interior of Assiniboia Hall will be fully renovated as was the case with Pembina and Athabasca Halls.

The board's decision to retain Assiniboia Hall came after the board heard favorable comments from Kees Prins, chairman of the Society for the Protection of Architectural Resources in Edmonton, (SPARE), Dean Olmstead, president of the Students' Union, University Chancellor Jean Forest, President Dr. Harry Gunning, and various members of the Board.

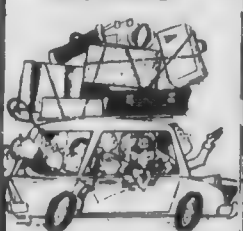

Mrs. Forest pointed out that the Senate and its large membership of public representatives unanimously supported the renovation of Assiniboia Hall.

The university's General

Bathtubs dangerous

A young child alone in the bathtub creates a drowning hazard; but it can also lead to serious burns and scalds. Children can turn the hot water faucet and scald themselves. This is Child Safety Week and the Canada Safety Council urges you to stay nearby when a child is in the bathtub.

Alumni Association and Students' Council also backed the bid to retain Assiniboia Hall.

In September, 1978, the board's building committee approved the use of up to $188,000 as planning and design funds for the reconstruction of Assiniboia Hall. However, a cost estimate was produced which was higher than the estimate considered when it was agreed in principal to reconstruct Assiniboia Hall. The earlier recommendation was reconsidered and a recommendation for demolition was subsequently approved by the building committee.

Now, as a result of the board's decision, Assiniboia Hall has escaped the wrecking ball.

In recent years Assiniboia Hall has housed a number of graduate student offices. The building is now vacant and will remain closed until such time as funding for renovation is allocated.

PIPS pays off

Wednesday representatives from each of the four schools involved in the Protestant School District's Project Incentive Pilot Study (PIPS) picked up cheques representing their school's share of funds allocated under the project. Each school received $1.50 per student last April. Costs associated with acts of vandalism taking place during school hours were deducted from the original sum over the past year with the total remaining going to the schools for whatever project the students wished to put the money towards. Board Chairman Wes Penner (left) presented the cheques to the students during the regular Board meeting. Students (from left) are: Sandy Shaw, Paul Kane; Dale Thronson, Lorne Akins ($275.06); Tammy MacKenzie, W.D. Cuts ($262.85); Carolyn Jones, Paul Kane ($419.72); Rick Webber, Paul Kane; Susan Dick, Sir George Simpson ($345), and Shelley Debolt, W.D. Cuts.

Business faculty to increase quotas

The University of Alberta's Faculty of Business Administration and Commerce will increase its student enrollment quota in 1979-80 providing that special funding is secured from the provincial government.

At a recent meeting of the university's Board of Governors, the faculty's proposal to eventually increase the quota on first year students from 210 to 285 and the quota on transfer students from 200 to 275 was approved.

The quotas relate to the admission of students to the four year Bachelor of Commerce degree program.

The proposal, which came to the Board via its academic concerns committee, noted that the special funding sought would be used to implement the expanded quota program by the phased addition of 16 full-time academic staff members.

As well, five new academic staff members will join the faculty in 1979-80 and another five will be phased in over a period of four years beginning in 1980-81, to help offset the current staff-student imbalance.

In applying for the special funding, the university will request that the government respond by August 1, 1979, so that, should funding be granted, there will be sufficient time to begin the quota program's expansion.

If funding is not granted there will be no change in quotas for the coming academic year. This means that the figures of 210 first year students and 200 transfer students will be adhered to. These figures were approved by the Board of Governors in 1976 and became effective in the fall of 1977. Since that time, the Board was told, the faculty has received numerous recommendations from the Alberta business community to the effect that the figures be increased.

The faculty's proposal said that evidence continues to suggest that there is a shortage in graduates from high quality Bachelor of Commerce degree programs.

"There continues to be a well recognized need for individuals with management training. This is true in both the public and private sectors," the faculty said

The Rights of Children Series - new at the Library

By Bev Farnham

The Rights of Children series of children's books celebrates the International Year of the Child in a most appropriate way. Even the youngest reader can appreciate this set of 10 books as they are beautifully illustrated and well written. Each book portrays a basic child's right as prescribed by the United Nations, in a unique and interesting fashion.

The Storybook Children elaborates on the first principle: All children everywhere are entitled to the rights of the United Nations Declaration. Cinderella and several other storybook characters jump out of their books and unite with children to express their rights to parents.

The Children Who Learned to Smile depicts the principle: Children shall have special care and opportunities to help them grow healthily and normally. An extraordinary person changes the lives of some very unhappy people.

The Girl With No Name reveals the principle: All children are entitled to a name and a nationality. A little girl is lost on an iceberg and rescued by people from a strange country. Through the King's son she is finally reunited with her family.

The Child Who Cried In The Night relates the principle: All children shall be properly looked after and have food, housing, places to stay and medical care. The animals in this book are delightful and help a very unhappy child through a sleepless night.

The Boy With Two Eyes depicts the fifth principle: Handicapped children shall have special education and care. We visit another planet in this book and find one amazing difference between theirs and ours. The illustrations follow the story beautifully as it changes from black and white to vivid colors.

A Boy and His Robot relates the principle: All children shall be able to grow in the care of loving and responsible adults. Nosey people break up a wonderful friendship but happily a remedy is found.

The Children and The Silly Kings reveals the principle: All children shall have free education and be able to develop equally. The children work out a clever idea by using the rivalry between Albert and Humphrey.

A Town Without Children depicts the eighth principle: Children affected by disasters shall be looked after as quickly as possible. A village has two great disasters that wipe out the population of children. Two visitors arrive in a boat and save the day.

The Grant Child related the principle: All children shall be protected against cruelty of all kinds. A child is mistaken for an adult because of his size. His friends eventually solve the problem.

Annie, The Invisible Girl depicts the 10th principle: All children shall be protected from racial, religious or other discrimination. Annie lives in the middle of Greenville and Blueville, belonging to neither. She solves her dilemma in a very imaginative way.

Trudeau: sizzling and fizzling

By Vicky Knight

I ambled down to watch Mr. Trudeau Monday, thinking that rather than try to spruce up two-day old news I'd take a different tack. Theatricality is an important weapon in the politician's arsenal, particularly Mr. Trudeau's, so I thought I'd check out just what kind of a show Mr. Trudeau and his cohorts put on.

Well, for one thing, the party's in need of a good stage manager, in the most literal sense of the word. The Trudeau visit was not the well choreographed production his operations are usually made out to be. In fact, it may set a record for the world's longest sustained fumble.

The PM arrived at the Jubilee late. It may not have been true, but the exuberant fill-in cheering session from Liberal supporters was so vigorous one wonders if the delay was not a calculated one. Liberal campaign workers came on like high school cheerleaders at a pep rally for the 'Big Game'. The demonstration was mechanical at first but the cheering increased in fervour until it sounded vaguely threatening. A radio man beside me commented on similarities between the roar of this crowd and the soundtrack of 'A Man Called Intrepid.' Troo-doe, Troo-doe" and "A-dolph, A-dolphie" sound very similar when screamed out by thousands. Banners waved frantically. Bring on the elephants and donkeys: the race for the presidency is on.

Like a sudden squall presaging a summer rainstorm, the national press made its entrance, heralding the man's arrival. The squeals became shrill and warbled out of control. The national media people seem to wear one of two faces: glassy eyed boredom or the overstimulated enthusiasm of complete exhaustion.

With devastating logic, the evening's organizers placed the print media neatly behind a platform of TV cameramen. As a result, the rest of the media had to sit staring at a wide expanse of blue denim backsides. While there are those that would argue there is little difference between the latter and Prime Minister, I was there to see Trudeau, not other newsmen. The last straw came when a local TV reporter positioned herself immovably on the platform, effectively plugging the one peekhole I could find. There she stayed all evening, not taking a single note, just swaying languidly on the spot and making about 10 of her colleagues exceedingly testy.

UNEVEN PERFORMANCE

Trudeau normally handles hecklers with the gleeful menace of a tomcat toying with a mangled mouse. He was in top form at the beginning, being magnanimously patient in his condescension to the young agitator. The man sprang out at the stage from the front row, where the Liberal supporters were gathered. It was clearly a case of a wolf in sheep's clothing when the skeptic advanced on the stage, extravagantly adorned with what looked like Liberal buttons.

Trudeau was at first tolerant of the strident young man but then attempted to ignore him and other hecklers as he returned to his "Basic, Slightly Expurgated Campaign Speech for Conservative Strongholds, Western Version." That he was suffering from overfamiliarity with his own ideas was obvious. The talent for powerful, blunt phrase-making was obscured, and Trudeau uncharacteristically resorted to cliches such as "equal opportunity regardless of race, colour or creed" and other limp catchphrases.

There were of course, times when Trudeau's enervation lifted as his eyes lit up at the prospect of a little political bloodshed. When an opportunity came for the PM to exploit a sleazy and stupid tactic used by the Tories he acted with alacrity. Clark had stated that Trudeau was not a Canadian in the sense that he, Clark, was, because of his French heritage. It revealed either a mindboggling ignorance of the problems that are a part of the Canadian socio-political fabric, or a cynicism so callous that it doesn't hesitate to poke at the national weak spots for political gain.

Trudeau had this to say about Clark's remarks:

"Clark says I am a European Canadian while he is a North American Canadian. Well, the Trudeaus came to Canada three hundred years ago and the Elliots 200 years ago. If that makes me a European Canadian, who knows what it makes some of you!"

The matter of PetroCan also had Trudeau warming to his subject. He said Clark would disband PetroCan, and that the corporation was not fulfilling its responsibility to explore for more oil and gas. "Mr. Clark is critical of the fact that PetroCan buys much of its oil and gas supply." However, Mr. Trudeau refuted this contention saying that PetroCan had made some finds such as a significant strike of a trillion cubic feet of gas just off the coast of the Maritimes.

"That wouldn't have been found if Joe had had his way," said Mr. Trudeau. He also said the corporation was involved in northern drilling, with 96 wells being drilled in non-conventional areas.

"Clark wants more room for private enterprise," he said. "And already 90 percent of oil and gas resources in this country are in the hands of multi-nationals with head offices in other countries. He also reminded listeners of the tangle that snarled up the Syncrude financing. The trouble started when Atlantic Richfield, one of several consortiums, pulled their money out of the kitty. The federal and Ontario governments got involved and dealt themselves into the tar sands game. Mr. Trudeau said this would not have been possible without PetroCan.

Inflation seems to be a subject that fails to inspire the PM, perhaps because of its longevity as an issue. His remarks on this and other subjects were made with steadily decreasing fire, and the audience seemed at one point to be slipping out of his grasp. For a man who usually puts on the best show in town, it was a lacklustre performance. Its easy to see that May 22 is long overdue.

Neville, Ashwell to roast Schmid

The president of Theatre 3, Michael Liknaitzky has revealed the master of ceremonies and "roasters" lined up for the Thursday, June 7 "roast" of Alberta Cabinet Minister, Horst Schmid.

Theatre 3 is staging the $125-a-plate dinner as a means of raising $50,000 to maintain their operating budget for the coming year. The event is being called "An Evening with Horst Schmid - a Roast and a Tribute."

Mr. Liknaitzky said well known city movie producer Fil Fraser will be master of ceremonies for the occasion. Roasters include former Citadel Theatre Director, John Neville; politicians Mary LeMessurier, Al Adair and Steve Paproski, local actor John Graves, and columnist Keith Ashwell.

Meanwhile, chairman of the Theatre 3 fund-raising dinner, Herb Belcourt, says response is going far better than anticipated.

"We appreciate people are pre-occupied with the federal election," he said. "But we're delighted to see that people do want to honor a man who has done so much for this Province in assisting numerous groups and organizations. That's probably the main reason the initial response exceeds the expectations."

Mr. Belcourt said the $125-a-plate gourmet dinner at the Convention Inn South is so arranged that $85 is tax deductible.

He also stated that seats will be reserved and that tables can be set aside for groups. Anyone wishing tickets or further information may phone Mrs. June Liknaitzky at 479-5925, or by writing Mrs. Liknaitzky at 6210 Ada Blvd., Edmonton, T5W 4P1.

By Shauna Oor
I suppose I should give my impression of the world's latest kick which seems to have o'er leaped St. Albert: Disco.

I can remember when it was a sin to say that you preferred Pop to Hard Rock but it seems that Disco is slowly becoming acceptable in Teen-dom.

The following conversation actually took place in a line at a ticket office one day...

Behind the Times Kid (from St. Albert): "I thought Triumph was pretty good."

Disco Kid: (Sneering) "Triumph? Aren't they kind of...like...hard rock?"

B.T.K.: "Huh? Oh well, they can really put on a show, but I dunno if they're Hard..."

Disco Kid: "Say! What do you think of the Village People?"

At which point, the Behind the Times Kid (from St.

Albert) panicked and retreated to the safety of the last place in line, crouching under his collar just in case anyone had seen him.

I felt sorry for the poor guy so as I passed I casually mentioned that Bob Seger was God and he perked up a bit.

As far as I'm concerned, Disco means the end of good music. I'm certainly not going to contribute to any industry which tramples all other forms of music in its path. When all the fog has cleared, maybe, maybe, I'll pick up a Disco album and look at it. Just a look mind you, we musn't carry this foolishness too far.

What's the purpose in Disco? It's mindless. It doesn't take any kind of talent to be a Disco-er other than being born with a pair of vocal cords. Just grab your hottest, full-lipped gospel singer out of the closest church, sign her to a record contract, (this isn't hard since record companies are only signing Disco groups anyway) and pool! (or puff) you've got a hit singer on your hands who's making guest appearances on talk shows.

The music industry isn't like that. Success should be a struggle. Then it's appreciated.

Look at all the new Disco "artists" coming out now. There is no way to keep track of them. There's no individuality, no pizzazz, no touring. (Well hardly any)

Besides, Canada has just begun to Rock and Roll and now it has to Disco too? That's asking too much, I hope.

Disco is the ground beef of the music industry. Bring back the filet mignon!

"Gimme that 'ol time Rock and Roll!!!!" Yeah!!!

'Rigoletto', 'Manon' to be featured next season

One of the biggest bargains in entertainment is mounting a subscription campaign during May! Edmonton Opera Association offers seats at full length productions for as little as $3 a seat.

On September 27, 29 and October 1 and 3, the stage at the Jubilee Auditorium will resound with Verdi's ever popular master work Rigoletto, featuring baritone Garbis Boyagian of the Met.; Faye Robinson; Janet Stubbs and popular Montreal bass Pierre Charbonneau.

November 22, 24, 26, 28 is looked forward to as the dates for the company's first venture into Wagnerian opera with "The Flying Dutchman" bringing favorite Victor Braun back to the stage. Opposite him as Senta, is another "first," Ute Vinzing, prima donna of Deutsche Opera Berlin.

On January 31, February 2, 4, 6 Massenet's "Manon" will be produced, with all its famous arias which express the love, infidelity, tragedy of this beautiful work. Heather Thomson, John Brecknock and Allan Monk are all stars returning to Edmonton's stage to be directed by Irving Guttman.

Another departure from usual repertoire for an opera company comes on March 20, 22, 24 and 26 with the mounting of the musical theatre show "The Most Happy Fella." Featuring Toronto baritone Louis Quilico as Joey and Nancy Shade as the waitress he loves. This marks the first off-Broadway performance for 'Fella'.

Rounding out the year, May 8, 10, 12 and 14, the opera which offers something for everyone, great choruses, ballet, sweeping music, drama will be presented-- "Aida", considered by many to be Verdi's masterpiece.

Residents of Alberta communities can find the name of their local EOA rep at their public library. He or she can provide prospective ticket buyers with a brochure! If sufficient interest is shown, busing may be arranged, so contact them now.

An added advantage to being a subscriber for this great season is priority seating for 80/81 when South Pacific, Otello, Carmen, Pagliacci and Cavalleria Rusticana and Nabucco will be performed.

The opera association's subscription drive is taking place now, with excellent reductions offered to those subscribing before May 31. To obtain more information or to reserve your family's seats phone 422-7200 or write Edmonton Opera Association, #503, 10102 - 101 Street, Edmonton, Alberta, T5J 0S5.

Gishler in lead: Mulcahy directs at Theatre 3

Theatre 3 has announced the cast for its summer production of P.S. YOUR CAT IS DEAD!, scheduled for an open-ended run opening May 23.

Director Sean Mulcahy will stage the fast-paced, madcap comedy by author James Kirkwood, well-known for his recent Broadway hit A Chorus Line.

Richard Gishler will follow his triumph as Simon Hench in Otherwise Engaged with a startling change-of-pace, playing the unfortunate Jimmy Zoole, star of T.V. soaps who arrives home to discover that not only is his live-in girl friend packing to leave him and, that he has just been "written out" of his soap series, but also his pet cat has just died on the operating table.

Joining Gishler will be

Vincent Marino as Vito, the burglar; Nicole Evans as the girl friend, Kate; Rob Roy as Kate's new love and Phil Akin, Margo Kane and Blair Haynes as a trio of debauchees.

MULCAHY TO DIRECT

P.S. Your Cat Is Dead will be directed by the colorful and sought-after director, Sean Mulcahy. This is his first assignment in Edmonton since his well-publicized departure as the Citadel Theatre's artistic director in 1973. Since that time he has directed in Montreal, Sud-bury, St. Catherines and Toronto, in addition to TV and film work. He has served as artistic director at St. Catherine's Press Theatre and the Gryphon Theatre in Barrie. In 1977 he was awarded the Queen's Silver Jubilee Medal for his work in the arts.

P.S. Your Cat Is Dead opens at Theatre 3 May 23, for an indefinite run.

Community Band to hold first concert

The St. Albert Community Band will host its first annual "Concert in the Park" on Tuesday evening, May 22, at Lions' Park. The concert will commence at 7:30 and will feature music for all ages.

Under the direction of Eugene Osoba, a local band instructor at Paul Kane High School, the Community Band is completing another very successful year of operation. The 45 member group has performed a number of special functions, such as a Christmas concert for residents of the Youville Home, as well as competitive performances (Kiwanis Music Festival), during the year.

The "Concert in the Park" is one way the Community Band attempts to "repay" the residents of St. Albert for their support during the year.

The Band realizes this concert is being held on Election Day, 1979, but what better way is there to round off this day than to relax over an hour or two of fine music?

Bring your families, lawn chairs, and picnic baskets! Make an evening out of it and join the Community Band on May 22! For further information please phone 459-7384.

Understanding childhood

The following is the second segment of a two-part series on "Understanding Children." The article, taken from the Royal Bank Letter, appeared as part one last week.

The good old institution of childhood is growing up fast in a world in which adulthood is being thrust upon youngsters ever-earlier. How can parents meet the challenge of raising the new children? It's a question of "why" versus "why not"...

THERE IS A CASE FOR SAYING WE ARE STILL TOO HARD ON CHILDREN

Childhood has been through a great deal since, much of it less than a credit to adults. Children were ruthlessly exploited in the Industrial Revolution; and until the turn of this century, their own parents felt entirely free to exploit and use them in various ways. Even later, it was common - and considered commendable - to beat a child for the slightest misdemeanour, some of which were committed only in the parent's imagination. What would be considered ardent child abuse these days was then an everyday routine.

There is a case for saying that we are still too hard on our children, though in a more subtle fashion. John Holt, an American writer, teacher, and child-rights advocate, says that we "lock the young into 18 years or more of subservience and dependency, and make of them ... a mixture of expensive nuisance, fragile treasure, slave and super-pet." He makes the point that adults should at least treat children with a modicum of courtesy. He claims that they are subject to an immense amount of verbal abuse day in and day out.

The sort of thing Holt is getting at is nothing new - the off-hand verbal bullying of children. A cartoon in Punch in 1872 showed a mother saying to an older child: "Go directly - see what she's doing and tell her she musn't." In the 1930s Ring

Lardner began a short story about a father and son with a phrase that gets to the heart of many such a relationship: "Shut up he explained."

What is new is that the frenetic pace of life today has exacerbated the impatience parents have always felt towards their children. People are propelled along so quickly that they don't have time - or think they don't - to worry about what a child might think or feel. On the other hand, it seems reasonable to assume that we in the 1970s are too sophisticated and well-informed to persist in thoughtlessly trampling on children. Yet some teachers and parents continually belittle them as a matter of course.

Much of this is unconscious. The Mormon Church lately has been sponsoring a series of television commercials showing how children are "put down". In one of these a little girl is shown bouncing into the kitchen, having done the shopping and obviously proud of herself. A mother's stern voice says off-camera: "I hope you got everything." In another scene, an excited boy runs into the house and shouts: "I got 20 in my test!" Then we hear his father's voice: "How many times have I told you not to slam the door?"

THEY HAVE ALWAYS MADE EASY TARGETS FOR ADULTS' BARBS

Our habit of putting down children goes deep into history. Children have always been the butt of adult gibes, from Shakespeare ("How sharper than a serpent's tooth it is to have a thankless child") through Charles Lamb ("Boys are capital fellows in their own way ... but they are unwholesome companions for grown people") to W. C. Fields ("Anyone who hates children and dogs can't be all bad").

It should be borne in mind that children make very handy targets for adult sniping, whether jocular or serious. Adults tend to assume an arrogance towards them based on no more difficult an achievement than having reached a certain age or the natural act of bringing a child into the world. They will say things to children that they would never say to other adults. They take their woes and frustrations out on their offspring in lieu of anyone else to bait. That old expression, "whipping boy", was not coined without reason. It would be wise for parents to give a little thought to the difference between constructive criticism and gratuitous belligerence in their dealings with their kids.

At the same time, it is true that children seem to possess a special knack for annoying their parents. The deportment, attitudes and habits that come with different ages, especially the early teens, can get under an adult's skin, causing minor incidents to be magnified. Parents are subject to a feeling of disappointment as their children get older and develop their own personalities. Characteristics that were formerly considered "cute" suddenly become flaws of character as boys and girls grow into their teens.

ADULT INCONSISTENCY CAN BEDEVIL TEENAGERS' LIVES

The teens are a crucial period for both the youth and the parent. It is then that the relationship between them later on in life is formed. Oscar Wilde wrote: "Children begin by loving their parents. After a time they judge them. Rarely, if ever, do they forgive them." A typical Wildean overstatement, perhaps, but with enough truth in it to serve notice on parents to be especially sensitive to the problems of their offspring when they reach their teens, if only for the parent's own good.

Contemporary teenagers live in a world which is constantly thrusting the appurtenances of adulthood upon them. For example, the curricula of many Canadian schools put the onus on children to choose their career path earlier than ever before.

This is partly because some schools have allowed students to drop key subjects, including English and mathematics, which automatically narrows down their career options. This is changing now, as schools go back to the idea that students should have a grounding in certain "core" subjects. But it makes a nice lesson in how adult inconsistency can bedevil teenagers' lives.

It is difficult, of course, for anyone to be entirely consistent. And it is not necessarily desirable; adults need to exercise some degree of flexibility to cope with the changes that take place in children themselves. A social worker cites the case of a girl who moves from primary school to high school. Her sweet, affectionate way with her parents turns into hostility and aggressiveness. She stops using "mom" and replaces it with a chilly "mother," with frigid emphasis on the final syllable. The mother concludes that the change must be due to the new school and new friends.

What is actually happening is that the daughter is entering her adolescence, and her attitude towards her parents is changing. She wants more independence, and to get it, she backs out of the emotional ambit of parental control. Her parents need to recognize the signs and to sympathize with her condition. They should allow her the independence she craves a little at a time.

THE PITFALLS ARE NUMEROUS AND DIFFICULT TO AVOID

Adolescence has always been a perilous phase of life for both sexes, and today it is even more so. The pitfalls are more numerous and more difficult to avoid - drugs, alcohol, and promiscuous sex with its threat of unwanted pregnancy, venereal disease, and emotional instability in later years. What can parents do to bring their Please Turn to Page A 21

Cuts Corner

By Dalynn Jackson

We've been quite busy with all of the different events taking place.

Cuts had a very successful penny carnival. There was a lot of variety, one class held a Gerbil Derby, and still another ran a casino. The carnival was enjoyed by all. It ran until four p.m. so students from Ronald Harvey and Bertha Kennedy were also able to attend.

CFRN was out to visit our school on the fourth of May and they put on a Disco Light Show, which was sponsored by Pepsi. The graduation committee ran a hot dog sale, so the noon hour was quite exciting.

Now that badminton is over (in which Cuts placed a very successful third overall) the track club is off and running! Our coaches are working very hard and it looks as if we will have some promising teams.

For those of you wondering how Mrs. Stokke is, she brought her five weeks old son, Derek, to school on Friday and both she and the baby are fine.

Our mad artists are furiously working away in the drama room. Thanks go to Kevin Walton, Dean Krause and Don Schaufele for the great job they are doing of the mural. The mural is a scene taken from the Hobbit. Meanwhile the drama classes are busy putting together a play. For this play they need old clothes, shoes, jewellery and other odds and ends. If you have anything of this sort, you could lend or donate they would be really appreciated. Just drop them off at the school or phone 458-8585.

Our Hi Q team did well. They were on ITV on Saturday, May 12 at 6 p.m.

The P.I.P.S. committee have done a good job, thanks to the hard work of Tammy MacKenzie and Shelley Debolt. The girls were to District Office last Wednesday to pick up a cheque for $262.15. With this money we are hoping to get some outdoor basketball hoops and a tether ball.

As you walk down the halls, you can see everyone is definitely not thinking of their next language or math class but about the upcoming summer. The grade nines are busy preparing for their prom. It will be held on June 1st. The ceremonies will be from six to seven with coffee and tea served after. The dance will begin at 7:30 p.m. and run to 10:30 p.m. The band is Silversmith. Tickets are on sale at noon.

You can tell school will soon be over when your teacher gives you a list of dates for the final exams. Everyone will soon need to open their books and start studying!

The elections for our Students' Union for next year will get underway in June. There will also be an awards night held on June 26, at 7:30. There will be academic and athletic as well as citizenship awards.

experience to bear on these dangers? The most powerful device they have on their side is a full and frank explanation of the need to set certain rules.

If authorities on the subject of childhood agree on anything, it is that children are more knowledgeable and more logical than adults give them credit for. So the challenge for parents is one of thinking out what is right and what is wrong for their child - and clearly explaining why. Children have come a long, long way since the days when a straight, stern "no" would lead them to the straight and narrow. Childhood is growing up; and adults involved with it must make a conscious effort to pay more attention to it than in days gone by.

Enterprise Column

Operation Enterprise is finally on the go once more. This week, we talked with a number of students from Company 30 at Paul Kane High School. They have been working on a performance "Tell Me That You Love Me Junie Moon." Their description of the play sounds like it will be an exciting time - not to be missed. Stay tuned Wednesday, at 9 p.m. for all the details.

Once again, baseball this Wednesday night - be at Lion's Park around 7 p.m. To all those who showed up last Wednesday, we hope your catch has been perfected - get a gang together and let's get baseball season underway.

Enterprise is looking at becoming a society. This will mean a number of interesting things to teens in St. Albert. We'll keep you posted on our progress.

Summer! is rapidly coming. We have a few ideas in the works, but we'll need LOTS OF HELP so get thinking of things to do and places to go. There's a good chance you'll be asked for your opinion very shortly. Your interest and suggestions could make the summer of '79 the best yet.

Enterprise, as you know, is in on Festival '79 (a component of the Summer Games). We are looking for individuals or groups - adults, teens and young children who would like to do a novelty act. Suggestions range from Jug bands, to fish ponds, to just about anything you can think of. If you would like to become a part of the celebration, give us a call at 459-6601, extension 70.

Enterprise is always in need of adult and older teen volunteers. Presently, we could use the assistance of anyone interested in sports, for gym night and a baseball night. These activities are recreational in nature and would not require a great deal of expertise, just your interest in teens and a desire to be a part of their program. Call anytime for more information.

Local man off to Bolivia

The St. Albert Roman Catholic Christian community held a special Mass on Monday evening to recognize the missionary commitment of one of its parishioners. Darrell Martindale, 23, of St. Albert has committed his expertise to CUSO for the next two years, and leaves for Bolivia on Wednesday, May 16. Darrell has been an active member of the Roman Catholic community throughout his life. He received his education at St. Albert High and at the University of Alberta, where he obtained his B. of Science in Mining Engineering in 1978.

Father Andy Boyer, Father Maurice Lafrance, Darrell Martindale and Father Colin Levangie.

Although he is going to be a resource person teaching mining techniques in the Bolivian mines, his motivation is one of Christian commitment to the poor people of the third world. It is his desire to understand third world people and their problems in an effort to help them help themselves.

His rewards will be personal growth only. He will receive the same wages as his Bolivian co-workers, live in a strange land in impoverished conditions, in an unfamiliar climate.

The Catholic community recognizes the value of such a commitment and wanted to share with Darrell their admiration, respect and prayers for a fruitful and safe journey.

These were the intentions of the special Mass on Monday. Father Maurice Lafrance, of St. Albert Parish, Father Colin Levangie of Edmonton and Father Andy Boyer of Hobbema celebrated the Mass. Father

Boyer addressed Darrell on behalf of the community. Church Hall. Following the Mass an informal reception was held in the

WHEN JESUS PRAYED FOR US

"I do not ask in behalf of Father, art in Me, and I in Thee, that they also may be in Us; that the world may have these alone, but for those also who believe in me through their word; that they may all be one, even as thou, believe that Thou didst send Me."

John 11:20-21

Prayer is the most honest place to me. There the deepest agonies of my soul are poured out, and the highest joys are experienced. It should not be a time of misery except at the place of confession - which leads to happy praise.

Prayer is not limited to time and space; it covers miles in an instant. Time must disappear, for the plea of faith is not held in today.

Prayer gives influence to a slave; for a slave with Jesus in his heart is more influential than his master when he bows his head and speaks by faith to God the Father.

Prayer liberates the prisoner, though physically held by bars of steel; his voice and cry are heard in another sphere.

So my message to you is, no matter your station or place in life, you have a much greater influence and persuasion when on your knees. The child of God who comes in faith to God's throne is promised an instant hearing. So be bound, quick and continual in prayer, for someone needs you.

In Jesus' Name,
Marion Warren

ON THE HOME FRONT

Big prizes offered in needlework contest

A Toronto retail complex, Village by the Grange, is co-operating with a popular family magazine - Canadian Living - to offer $10,000 in prizes for a King Tut needle art competition.

The Treasures of Tutankhamun, is scheduled to arrive at the Art Gallery of Ontario on November 1. While the accent of the exhibit is on jewellery, weapons, boxes, statues and even Tutankhamun's own baby chair, it is not as well known that when the boy king's tomb was first discovered in Egypt 57 years ago, a few items in fabric were found to have endured the passage of 3,000 years.

The contest prizes are to be divided among three categories:

Class 1: an original design with a King Tut theme, designed and executed totally by the entrant with a threaded needle by hand or machine. Quilted or appliqued pieces or dolls made by machine must be embellished by hand. First prize is $2,000., second is $1,000., third is $500 and 10 runners-up will receive $150 each.

Class 2: a lotus flower design workshop on a needlepoint kit entirely by the entrant. Top prize for Class 2 is $1,000., second prize $500, third $250 and there will be 10 runners-up at $125 each.

Class 3: a hieroglyphic needlepoint design worked on a kit entirely by the entrant. First prize is $750, second $350, third $150 and there will be 10 runners-up at $75 each.

Kits are available by mail from Canadian Living or by visiting the Grange Gallery at Village by the Grange.

A panel of qualified judges will select the winning entries, which will be displayed in the Grange Gallery from November 1 to January 31. Deadline for submission of entries is September 30, 1979.

All entries must be accompanied by an official entry form and a $5 entry fee which will cover a donation to the Canadian Save the Children Fund and return postage. The entry form will be published in the June issue of Canadian Living or available at the Grange Gallery, Village by the Grange, after May 22, publication date of the magazine.

Living with change

From Pat Doerksen
District Home Economist
This past Sunday was Mother's Day. Let's reflect about this special day.

IN HONOR OF MOM

I think all too often Mothers are taken for granted. It is just assumed that your shirt will be ironed for tomorrow, lunch will be ready to leave with you, the house will be clean plus she will be ready to accompany you anywhere, whenever needed. Being a homemaker is a fulltime job that deserves a bouquet every Sunday of the year.

Mothers are pretty special people, sometimes taken for granted (perhaps too often!). The following comment seems to be very appropriate and thought provoking.

IF WE WERE SEVEN

In this age of efficiency, husbands are prone to remark: "If you would just put the household on an efficiency basis..."

When I attempt to draw up an efficiency schedule, I realize that the average country home needs seven Mothers.

Mother No. 1 would have charge of marketing, cooking, baking, planning menus, serving meals, packing lunches, washing dishes, canning, freezing and jelly making and the care of the kitchen.

Mother No. 2 would do the washing, ironing, mending, cleaning and pressing, airing and putting away.

Mother No. 3 would sweep, scrub, dust; wax floors and polish furniture; keep windows shining; clean closets, cupboards and dressers; make the beds. care of the children; their formulas and feeding, baths, naps, training and discipline, recreation.

Mother No. 5 would have the care of the garden and the yard; raise the chickens, gather and market the eggs. She'd gather the fruit and vegetables, care for the domestic animals.

Mother No. 6 would belong to P.T.A. and the Mother's Club, serve on committees, teach a Sunday School class, work for the Red Cross, and write letters.

Mother No. 7 would be a pal and helpmate to her husband - help him in his business, entertain his friends, attend social events, listen to his problems.

Each of these Mothers would have a fulltime job, with little overlapping of work.

"But who would have the babies?" I hear somebody say. It's doubtful that the efficiency system would give any of the seven Mothers time for that. Having babies is a fulltime job in itself - a job which the poor, inefficient, average homemaker manages to squeeze into her many-sided program, for lack of system.

MOTHERS NEED THEIR OWN TIME TOO!

Mothers are people too... they need some time for themselves... to just do things for themselves. So let's think of mom and give her a hand with some of her many tasks. Then she can find a few minutes to do some reading, or do a craft or maybe just relax!

Listening to kids prevents stuttering

The month of May is designated as Speech and Hearing Month in Alberta. The Sturgeon Health Unit's Speech and Hearing Department has produced a series of articles on childhood stuttering. The material presented is based on current data provided by the Speech Foundation of America.

It is time we spoke more about stuttering, since this is what we want to prevent.

First, let us say that stuttering is not simply a defect in the making of speech sounds. It is not a problem of abnormal voice. Only in a general sense can we view it as a disorder of speech. Rather, it is a difficulty in the act of conversing with others. The stutterer seldom has trouble in talking to himself or in singing. It occurs primarily in the conversational act.

Social survival in this world of words demands an ability to converse. And so we hope that our offspring will learn the skill of sharing word and thought without stuttering. We can help them to learn the art. In fact, we must help, for it is not an art that springs up mushroom-like; it must be guided. We would like now to offer a few guideline thoughts that might help you to keep your proper bearings as you navigate your child through the sometimes choppy waters of conversation-learning.

We all agree on this: that a child attempting to speak needs to feel that others want to hear what he has to say. A bit of interested attention does much. It gives a good flavor to the experience and leads the child to further attempts. Sometimes it is far from easy. Pots boil over and telephones ring while the dog will scratch at the door. But there will be quieter times and the tiny moments of extra attention to speech efforts will be rewarded. If your child feels that his conversational partners are willing to wait for him to get across some difficult explanation or narrative, he will continue, he will improve, he will succeed.

To better understand our own conversational relationships with our children, some parental detective work may be necessary; mostly in terms of identifying or being aware of our own attitudes. We might ask ourselves such questions as these: "Am I putting too much pressure on him to participate in conversation at times when he doesn't seem to want to talk at all? Am I shifting the subject or level of conversation too swiftly or too abruptly for him to keep up? Are my words too strange, my sentences too long and complex?"

Simple and sure, short and sweet, slow and easy - that's better. There is a lot to learn and there will be time. Speech will be good and it will blossom into conversation when the child feels the parents understand, or are trying to help; when he feels the deep desire on the part of family members to converse with him sympathetically; when he senses their real interest in what he wants and needs to say. With such help he will not stumble along the conversational pathways - he will stride. Such is more likely to happen when the adults themselves share with the child their own thoughts and feelings. And all of this with love and understanding.

Passive Solar Conference in Peace River region

June 11 - 13 will see an impressive slate of experts in the field of passive solar heating assembled on the campus of Fairview College in the northern Alberta community of Fairview, to take part in what is the beginning of an effort to develop an ecological awareness and a suitable housing program for the Peace River region, for Alberta, and for the Canadian Prairies.

Topics to be discussed include passive solar heating, low-cost building methods, owner involvement, earth-sheltered housing, local and recycled materials, energy-efficient design, and solar greenhouses.

Registration deadline for the conference is May 31. The fee is $50/person and $75/family. Accommodation in the college residence is available, on a limited basis, at $1.75/adult/day, and $1-child/day. Meals in the cafeteria will be about $5/day. Day care facilities will be provided. Arrangements are being made for charter bus service from Calgary on Sunday, June 10 with a stop in Edmonton on the way to Fairview.

Thirteen speakers will deliver addresses at Fairview conference. Some are featured here:

1. Peter van Dresser: attended Cornell University, studied architecture-engineering. He has had numerous essays published in Harper's Magazine, Forum, Free America, Scientific American, Landscape, The New Mexico Review, and has published the proceedings of several solar conferences.

The book "A Landscape of Humans" is now in its fourth printing. A second book, "Homegrown Sundewellings" was published in 1977, and a third, just completed and not yet published, is entitled "Remembrance of a Future."

Mr. van Dresser has conducted seminars at Pratt Institute, University of Mi-

University of Southern Colorado, and so on. He was an invited lecturer at the UNESCO-Northeast London Polytechnic Conference on Solar Building Technology, London, 1977. He also lectured to the Swiss Solar Energy Association in Zurich and to a group of solar architects near Venice.

From 1933 to 1936 he was the editor of Astronautics, the Journal of the American Rocket Society, and chairman of Experiment Committee which developed the first successful regenerative liquid-fuel rocket motor in America.

During the latter 1930's he was the secretary and founding member of the Broward County Conservation Association, first group organized to attempt to preserve the Florida Everglades from overdrainage. At the same time he built and developed an organic homestead on the edge of the Everglades, and built solar water heaters.

1958 - Santa Fe, New Mexico: Mr. van Dresser built a small solar-heated house, which has been described as perhaps the oldest continually occupied and functioning solar house in the United States.

1959 - 60: planning analyst, State Planning Office, New Mexico. Special assignment on rural regional development problems. Organized interagency council to promote development planning in a manner consonant with the cultural traditions and human ecology of the region.

1974 - 77: director-coordinator of the Sundewellings Project, a two year regional program for the development of prototype solar-heated homes adapted to indigenous materials and techniques. He also was a founding member and director-member of the New Mexico Solar Energy Association during this time.

1977: Winner of the Earth Friend Award bestowed by the Clearing House for Environment Action.

1978: Founder/incorporator of the Council for Sustainable Growth and Appropriate Technologies in New Mexico.

2. Greg Allen: has a B.A.Sc. in Aerospace from the U. of Toronto, and has studied architecture at UBC and the U of Waterloo. He was a renewable energy consultant to Urban Affairs for the Habitat Conference in Vancouver. Mr. Allen has designed and built three solar heated houses in Ontario and Quebec. He has also been the designer-consultant on several other solar heated buildings.

(An excerpt from the book "The Sun Builders," by Robert Argue/Barbara Emanuel/Stephen Graham) - "Greg Allen is one of the most prominent and outspoken participants in the renewable energy field in Canada today. He has designed and built solar houses which incorporate innovative and practical energy-saving features. He emphasizes the value of passive solar collectors to the point of eliminating the need for collectors and using features of the house to collect and store the sun's energy. He integrates various appropriate technologies, keeping them simple and effective."

"Greg stresses that technology must be both environmentally appropriate and comprehensible. He believes that the consequences of using the technologies that play a part in our everyday lives should be understood by everyone. 'It is unfortunate that so many of us have lost a fundamental understanding of the things that propel us and keep us warm. Our basic requirements are very simple, but the technologies that have been developed are beyond the grasp of the average person. We have got to understand the devices we use so that we can make judgements as to whether we want to pursue that kind of technology.'"

3. David Bergmark: received a B.A. from Brandeis U., attended U.B.C. School of Architecture and obtained a M. Arch. from the Yale School of Architecture.

He is a founding partner of Miller Solsearch. In charge of design, construction, seminars and monitoring of the Conservator One energy efficient homes. Developing concepts for ecology and energy demonstration projects in Sudbury, Ontario (Spaceship 2001), Bronx New York (Bess Project). Developing outreach programs in energy conservation for Ark project and Miller Solsearch. Frequent lectures and appearance on radio and t.v. on subject of passive solar energy conservation. Developing wet earth heat storage system for residential and greenhouse application. Chief liaison with federal departments: Agriculture Canada, Environment Canada.

Mr. Bergmark comments about the Ark in P.E.I.: "The nice thing about the Ark, and that interests the people who visit, is not so much the building, as the concept. Self-sufficiency is a very exciting idea for people." Because the entire length of the south-facing wall and roof is made of a translucent material, the living area also has a major passive heating element. The living area is integrated with the domestic greenhouse which makes for a very bright, open home. All the living functions, except for sleeping, take place in the greenhouse. The greenhouse produces food, and supplies light and heat to the house.

"Greg takes a grass roots approach to the subject. 'Solar energy implies a degree of decentralization, a diffuse source that enables us to get our energy directly from the place we live. It allows us to live in closer proximity to the beauties of nature, thereby enabling us to play a more participatory role with the forces that affect our lives, rather than being dependent on some remote, large-scale energy system.'"

David likes the freedom he feels by living in such an illuminated space. He is aware of cloudy days "But, on a cold wintry day when the sun is streaming in here, I often want to go out on the porch to have a cook-out. And I go out there and it's -30 degrees C. That is hard to deal with!"

Watch out for fabric fires

By Paddi Mills
Consumer & Corporate Affairs Canada

When you think fire protection, don't forget about fabric fires. All fabrics and textile articles will burn to a greater or lesser degree, under the right circumstances.

The Canadian government does set standards to make sure that the clothing and fabric you buy does not burn too fast. However, a certain amount of self protection is also important especially when considering children's clothing or clothing for the elderly.

Choose fabrics carefully, keeping the following facts in mind:

- lighter weight fabrics tend to burn faster than heavier weight fabrics
- fabrics with a raised pile surface tend to burn faster than smooth (remember this when buying fabrics for children's sleepwear)
- open weave fabrics burn faster than tightly woven fabrics.

The fibre content of clothing also affects the speed at which it will burn. Cotton, rayon, linen, acetate, and triacetate all tend to ignite very easily. They also burn very quickly. Nylon, polyester, acrylic do not ignite easily - however once ignited - they tend to drip which can cause severe burns.

Although the flammability of children's manufactured sleepwear is controlled and regulated in Canada - fabrics are not. Therefore, home sewers should be extremely careful when choosing fabrics for making sleepwear or bedding for children.

Alberta tourist program broadened

This year, Alberta's Stamp Around Alberta campaign has been expanded to include the province of British Columbia, says J. A. Boomer Adair, minister of Tourism and Small Business. Travel Alberta counsellors are currently processing over 2100 B.C. inquiries, with the peak of the campaign planned for early May. B.C. accounts for 30 percent of all traffic to Alberta by non-residents.

Four specific Alberta vacation experiences will be actively promoted in conjunction with the Stamp Around Alberta campaign for the first time. Trailriding, guest ranches, fly-in fishing camps, and country (farm) vacations will be advertised as high quality vacation experiences available in Alberta, the minister said.

To provide better personal travel counselling, Travel Alberta has initiated a toll-free, in-province counselling service, known as "Dial Alberta." The toll-free number (1-800-222-6501) will be promoted on billboards and on city buses throughout Alberta. The "Dial Alberta" service will be available from nine to nine, seven days a week, May 1st to October 15, 1979.

Total tourism revenue in Alberta last year totalled $911 million. Travel by Albertans accounted for $578 million.

Frozen waterpipes may keep Jasper closed this weekend

Anyone who's planning a holiday camping weekend at Jasper had better reconsider.

Grant Potter from Whistler's Mountain campground in Jasper reports that almost all of their 800 sites may be closed this weekend. Frozen waterpipes are the reason. Drinking water and wash-room facilities probably won't be operating.

However, Mr. Potter said, if warmer temperatures continue some sites may be opened by Thursday or Friday. He added that the overflow area of the campground -- used on busy weekends -- will be open for sure but no water facilities will be available.

Meanwhile Bev Trim with

Parks Canada in Banff reports that all 381 sites at Two Jack's main campground will be open, as well as 322 trailer sites and 622 tent sites at Tunnel Mountain.

Bill MacDonald: high school principal to primary school teacher

When Bill MacDonald's contract as acting-principal of Sturgeon Composite High School runs out on May 18 the school board has left him with two options: either teach primary school at Sturgeon Heights or resign.

Trustees turned down both a motion to make Mr. MacDonald a vice-principal at Sturgeon Composite and one to make him a vice-principal at Sturgeon Heights.

Upon hearing that both of his motions had failed and that the principal of a high school had been reduced to merely a teaching position at the primary level, trustee Keith Everitt asked, "don't we have some floors that need sweeping or something?"

Mr. Everitt added that he considered the board's decision "highly embarrassing. I don't know how we can lower ourselves to this."

Trustees Everitt, John McDonnell and Joyce Porsild voted in favor of the motions and trustees Lois Hole, Don Hood, Jim Ward and Ruth Wall voted against them.

The motion to make Mr. MacDonald a vice-principal at Sturgeon Composite follows a school board decision last month not to appoint him as permanent principal after his contract as acting-principal runs out.

Trustees Hole, Hood, Ward and Wall argued that appointing Mr. MacDonald to either of the vice-principalships was going against the board's general policy of advertising and interviewing for all positions that become available.

"I don't think we should start compromising a system that has worked excellently," said trustee Ward. He said that he had "no qualms" about Mr. MacDonald applying for either of the two vice-principalships, but he felt that other people should also have a chance for the jobs.

"But we can't always follow the formula that's been set," said trustee McDonnell. "Maybe we have to change." Trustee Porsild agreed, saying "I can't help but feel it's a special case."

The trustees who rejected the motions also argued that there are already two vice-principals at Sturgeon Composite and another one isn't needed. Mr. Ward reminded the board that when Mr. MacDonald came to the school he had even suggested that only one vice-principal was necessary. In any case, he said, if Sturgeon Composite is given a third vice-principal then other schools will also be asking for one.

Mr. McDonnell agreed but said some compromise might be worked out. The two vice-principals at the school already teach about one-third of each day, he said, and if Mr. MacDonald was added they could all teach one-half to two-thirds of each day. The increased cost of a third administrator would be partially balanced out by the need for less teachers, he said.

"If we want to look for solutions the solutions are there," said Mrs. Porsild, "especially when I look at a nine million dollar budget."

"The board has lost so much credibility" with the public already, she said, that it's important to gain some back by treating Mr. MacDonald favorably.

Continued public support for Mr. MacDonald was apparent from the two delegations that appeared before the board. Kent Scarborough

MD to study dust control budget

The MD's budget for oiling roads to cut down on dust may increase by as much as 50 percent this year.

At its meeting last week the MD council agreed that residents' demands for oiling can only increase. Truck and car traffic on MD roads is getting heavier all the time, the councillors said, and many residents weren't satisfied with the oiling that they received last year.

"I've got more calls already than I did last year," said Ald. Crozier. Ald. Walter Van de Walle said he found that last year's $600,000 budget for oiling wasn't adequate and a "considerable increase" will be needed this year.

Some councillors felt that this year's budget should be twice the size of last year's to meet demand but the matter will be discussed again.

Reeve William Flynn said Please Turn to Page B 2

Legal protest unlikely for MacDonald

Bill MacDonald has no legal channels to protest losing the acting-principalship of Sturgeon Composite High School, says an Alberta Teachers Association (ATA) spokesman.

Don Corse, the ATA's Coordinator of Members Services, says Mr. MacDonald "doesn't have any comeback on losing the principalship" after the Sturgeon District School Board voted not to give him the permanent position late last month.

Mr. Corse said that according to provincial laws, "the board has the right to appoint whomever they want." He added that Mr. MacDonald can't do anything about losing out on two chances to be a vice-principal either. At the board's regular meeting last Wednesday trustee Keith Everitt moved that Mr. MacDonald be appointed a vice-principal at Sturgeon Composite. When that motion failed he moved that Mr. MacDonald be given a vice-principalship at Sturgeon Heights. He was unsuccessful.

Mr. MacDonald says he's still considering the board's offer of a teaching position at Sturgeon Heights.

Compromise to Namao School flooding: upstairs washrooms

Building washrooms on the first floor will be the compromise solution to basement flooding and sanitation problems at the old Namao School.

The Sturgeon District School Board agreed at last Wednesday's meeting that closing the school's basement washroom and playroom facilities and replacing them with something on the ground level would be just too expensive.

The trustees agreed to spend $7,150 to construct the first floor washrooms but said the basement playroom will have to remain open. The only alternative for replacing it was attaching a portable classroom to the side of the school, estimated at about $2,500 to transport and rent and an additional $2,500 to attach to the school.

Trustees agreed that the extra $5,000 was just too much money to spend on a school that may be replaced in a year or two. The board is presently preparing a "statement of need" for the provincial government to get funding for a new school.

Trustee Jim Ward admitted the flooding problems at Namao School had existed for years. The board has done little about it until now, he said, because dropping enrollments at Namao a few years ago suggested that the school would soon be closed. Since then, however, changes in the school district have made the school quite crowded.

Joyce Bevan, secretary of the Namao Kindergarten Local Advisory Committee, told board members that their decision to install new washrooms upstairs will "certainly be better than nothing done." She stressed though that the five, six and seven year olds in the school will still have to put up with the musty, damp smell of the playroom.

Dave White of the Namao Communications Committee added that what parents really want is a commitment from the board that the school will be replaced. Namao School, he said, "is not an adequate teaching facility and I think that most board members know that."

dust control

that the difficult thing about providing adequate oiling to reduce dust is that when you oil the roadway in front of one resident's home then everybody else wants oil too, whether they need it or not.

Ald. Clayton Crozier said a solution may be the formation of a committee to set criteria for oiling roads. Certain roads deserve priority, he said, and guidelines should be set that both councillors and taxpayers can understand.

Ald. Van de Walle added that designating truck routes would also help to cut down on dust and the need for oiling in certain areas.

Ald. Van de Walle said another solution may be to "eliminate some of the hard top roads." Money that has been spent on black topping roads, he said, could be diverted to paying for more oil. However Ald. Glenn Berry said he wondered if money wasn't being wasted in trying to solve dust control by using oil. Maybe the oil is useless, he said.

Ald. Berry noted that even if the MD doesn't buy more oil this year the budget will have to increase by 10 to 12 percent to match the increased cost of oil.

The councillors concluded discussion by moving to hire some temporary summer help to conduct road traffic tests to set oiling priorities.

Request for legal advice allowance voted down

A $200 yearly allowance for each trustee to seek legal advice would have become a reality if Keith Everitt had had his way at last week's Sturgeon District board of Education meeting.

Trustee Everitt made his motion for the allowance during the board's discussion of trustee's salaries for the coming year. Board members, like all educational personnel, will get an 8.3 percent increase. Trustees will earn $11,340 next year.

In support of his motion for the legal advice allowance, Mr. Everitt said that even talking to a lawyer for a moment on the phone nowadays is expensive, and so the $200 for each trustee would be money well spent.

Mr. Everitt added that in order to safeguard against misuse of the allowance, all trustees would have to provide proof of how they had spent their funds.

The motion was soundly defeated.

The board's chairman, Lois Hole, said she opposed the motion because "never while I have been on the board have I had to seek legal advice." Mrs. Hole agreed that certain board issues could have serious legal implications. The recent decision to find a new acting-principal for Sturgeon Composite High School, she said, was a time when "we had to be careful with our words," but a $200 allowance for legal advice is still unnecessary.

Before Mr. Everitt's motion for a legal advice allowance trustee Joyce Porsild asked that in order to improve attendance at board and committee meetings, the education trustees should have money docked from their salary for meetings that they miss.

Missing a full day's meeting would cost a trustee $65 she said, and missing half a day would amount to $35. Mrs. Porsild's motion failed.

Trustee Don Hood said that if trustees lost money for missing meetings then they'd never allow a meeting to be scheduled at a time that they might not be able to attend. The result, he said, would be that board and committee meetings would be even more difficult to schedule than they are now.

Trustees Everitt, Hood, John McDonnell and Jim Ward voted for the board's pay increase and trustees Lois Hole, Porsild and Ruth Wall voted against it.

After losing in her bid to reject the board's pay increase, chairman Hole asked, "What do we do, give it back?"

"Just the ones who voted against it," responded vice-chairman Hood.

Bill MacDonald

from the Morinville detachment of the RCMP told the trustees that he totally endorsed Mr. MacDonald as the school's principal or vice-principal. The man, he said, "has always been extremely helpful" with any dances, car rallies or anything else that they organized together.

Two students at Sturgeon Composite, Mary Craig and Cherry Dodge, told the board that students at the school "would be very happy if Mr. MacDonald stayed even as vice-principal." Keeping him on at the school next year, they said, would provide stability for the administration and students.

After his motions to appoint Mr. MacDonald as vice-principal at either of the two schools had failed, Mr. Everitt moved that the board should "complete a recommendation" for Mr. MacDonald by the next board meeting. The recommendation, he said, would be a letter of reference from the board to help the man get a job somewhere else. "And I hope we give him an excellent recommendation," he said.

Asked why he felt Mr. MacDonald wouldn't stay in Sturgeon District, Mr. Everitt said "I just don't think he will. The man's career is at stake."

The board agreed not to offer any letters of recommendation until they're asked for, and moved to offer Mr. MacDonald a teaching position at Sturgeon Heights or a leave of absence with full pay until the end of the school year on June 29. Mr. MacDonald says he is considering his alternatives.

Sturgeon to hire four more student counsellors

Sturgeon students will have twice as many counsellors to take their problems to when school begins again this fall.

At their May 9 meeting the Sturgeon District School Board agreed to hire four more counsellors to help the four already on staff deal with students' emotional and academic difficulties.

In support of the motion trustee Jim Ward argued that today's children and adolescents are faced with far more pressure than earlier generations were and so they have a far greater need for counselling.

At first some trustees opposed hiring any counsellors and others felt that only two were necessary.

Trustee John McDonnell wondered "what does a counsellor do besides tell you there's something wrong with you?"

Reducing class sizes and teacher-pupil ratios should be the board's first priority, Mr. McDonnell said. Also, he said, the board may not be able to afford a counselling program in the future and

"it's damn hard to take it away once you've got it."

However the board's assistant superintendent, Walter Heppler, noted that six new teachers at a yearly cost of $120,000 would be needed to reduce the average class size in the district by only one student.

The board's co-ordinator of special services, Steve Sieben, added that "there is enough evidence to show that removing two or three students from a classroom has little effect on learning effectiveness -- removing 10 maybe, but not two." Mr. Sieben said some studies have even shown that split classes can be beneficial for the students.

Trustee Keith Everitt proposed the board's first motion, asking that two counsellors and one assistant director of instruction be hired. Two teachers will also be hired but enrollment increases will mean the cost will be shared by the board and the province.

Mr. Everitt noted that the MD now gets an 80 percent grant from the government for all counselling services they offer to the public. Since the MD's costs are reduced so much, he said, the board "should be applying a lot of pressure on the MD to start preventative counselling."

Trustee Joyce Porsild said "I feel emphatic that we should not get into this counselling role. The MD will drag its heels as long as we continue to do it (through the schools)."

Board chairman Lois Hole disagreed, arguing that the MD's counselling is family-oriented and can't meet the special needs of students in their school environment. She admitted, however, that better counselling services from the MD could reduce the need for school counselling from the board.

Mr. Sieben emphasized that any counsellors that the board hires will have teaching certificates, and a certain amount of regular teaching will be required to ensure that they're familiar with classroom situations.

He added that more counselling time needs to be spent on career planning. Too many grade 12 students, he said, just don't know what they want to do.

Trustee Don Hood moved an amendment to Mr. Everitt's motion so that four counsellors would be hired instead of two. The amendment passed and then the motion.

In a later interview, Mr. Sieben said one of the first priorities for the new counsellors will be improving services at the Namao school. Counselling at Namao hasn't kept up with increased enrollment, he said.

Other plans for the new counsellors can't be planned yet, he said, because the board "will have to wait and see what the backgrounds are of the people applying."

Edmonton opposes MD residents' annexation bid

An application from a group of MD residents for annexation by the city of Edmonton will probably receive little attention until the city's major annexation is solved.

Mark McCullough, a planner working with the city's annexation project, says "the city has taken the position that we won't support any of these piecemeal or ad hoc annexations until the major annexation is completed."

The annexation application comes from residents living in an area between St. Albert and Edmonton. Their land extends from south of St. Albert to the northeast to the Canadian Forces Base Namao airport.

At its May 11 meeting the MD Council acknowledged a letter from the Alberta Local Authorities Board (ALAB) which stated that it had received the annexation application.

The ALAB's Ray Myroniuk said the application was dated April 10, and was the first received since Edmonton's annexation plans were announced.

At the MD Council meeting Secretary-Treasurer Gib Boddez said this annexation bid will probably be the first among many. "We're going to be flooded with about 15 of these little ones," he said the MD should begin preparing opposition to it immediately.

Reeve Flynn agreed, saying that "I think we should oppose this (the annexation application) on the basis of the Restricted Development Area if for nothing else."

"Fitness Discovery" the fitness testing clinic sponsored by Sturgeon Regional Recreation and Shape-Up Alberta took place on May 7, 8 and 9 in Redwater, Morinville and Legal. The circuit consisted of several tests designed to measure different components of fitness. All three communities proved that they had citizens concerned about their physical fitness. Redwater had a fine turnout of 44 people and Morinville and Legal turned out 27 and 29 participants respectively. All participants left with a better understanding of themselves in terms of their fitness level and how they could improve or maintain themselves.

Many people volunteered their time to work with the clinics. A big thank you is extended to Mr. M. Bury, Mr. A. Coderre, Miss V. Walker, Mr. J. Montpetit and their students from Redwater School, Georges P. Vanier High School, and Legal School.

We also appreciated assistance from Mrs. Marg Nimchuk in Redwater, the Morinville St. John Ambulance and Mrs. Lorraine Kremer, Mr. Ted Cherman, and Mrs. Sherry Martineau in Legal for their medical assistance.

A thank you is extended to Dr. N.A. McDonald for counselling in Morinville. Also thank you to Lori Nelson of the Redwater Girl Guides and Elena Dingman, Cathy and Clair Boudreault from the Morinville Girl Guides for babysitting.

Vanier wins RCMP rally

Morinville's Georges P. Vanier High School won the 1979 RCMP High School car rally with an equalized point total of 10,724. Sturgeon Comp came in second with 9,152 points, with Legal High far behind the two leaders in the May 4 race.

Two of the top three finishers were from Vanier, and that helped in the cause for the Morinville school.

Rick Manasterski and Richard Himshoote teamed up to win the rally with 348 points, while fellow Vanier students Kim Mulligan and Lise Houle scored 336 points to finish third. Second place Betty Kushak and Cheryl Soetaert of Sturgeon Comp totalled 346 points.

There were 102 cars in the rally, which covered 143 road miles in the Morinville detachment's area, and 204 participants. The route, if driven at the proper speed, took about three hours and 22 minutes.

Const. Kent Scarborough of the Morinville RCMP Detachment, said the dance that was held at Sturgeon Comp the following night was, "Excellent." About 400 people attended the dance, which featured one of Edmonton's best rock bands, the Fifth Avenue All Stars. Const. Scarborough said the crowd stomped and clapped after the dance until the band came back for an encore.

As a result of Vanier winning this year's rally, they will be the host school for next year.

MORINVILLE AMBULANCE

Morinville Emergency Ambulance Service urgently requires additional daytime personnel, especially drivers. The three people presently handling this shift are very hard pressed to cover the needs of the community now. However, with holidays coming up the lack of help may cause the ambulance service to suffer.

All work is done on a voluntary basis. Anyone who can be available, especially during the daytime, is asked to contact Bjorg Carlson at 939-4467.

The Ambulance Service also reports that a total of 15 people from Morinville took the St. John's Ambulance course which was offered recently. The course will probably be available again for Morinville residents later this year.

F.D.A. RAFFLES

Any clubs or organizations wishing to raffle a prize or sell tickets on Frontier Daze grounds should contact the Morinville Frontier Daze secretary, Kathy Bolyea, Box 1452, Morinville. ## STUDENTS SHARE LENT PROJECT

A great effort by the students of Notre Dame School resulted in $1301.10 being earned during Lent for the Peace and Development campaign. The fund-raising projects involved all students from grades 1 - 6 and included a spring carnival, book and comic book sale, raffles, bake sale, and movie presentation.

Of the money collected $244.50 was used in the adoption of a South American child through the Foster Parents Plan of Canada. The remainder of the fund was donated to the committee for Peace and Development.

BOARD OF TRADE NEWS

The Devonian Foundation has accepted a proposal submitted by the Morinville Board of Trade to match dollar for dollar the work on upgrading the town's main street. A committee made up of Henry Lamoreux, Darryl Brenneis and Fritz Brauer will get the project off the ground. Upgrading plans include the addition of tree planters and trees as well as a central boulevard on the main street. The Cenotaph will be renovated and assistance will be given toward organizing a mini-park on the grounds south of the convent.

Other Board of Trade projects include brochures which are being distributed to curlers in the Summer Spiel upcoming in June. The Board of Trade is contributing toward the cost of publishing the brochures and is conveying a message from the town. Two banners are also being made up which will be used to welcome visitors to Morinville during various events.

The Chamber of Commerce annual meeting will be held in Red Deer on June 10, 11 and 12. Representatives of the Morinville Board of Trade will attend.

MINOR SOCCER ACTION

Minor soccer started off in Morinville last week for the following teams: Micro Mites - two teams of five - six year olds; Mini-Mites - three teams of seven - eight year olds; Mites - three teams of 9 - 10 year olds; Pee-wees - two teams for ages 11 - 12 years; Bantams - one team for ages 13 - 14 years; Midgets - one team for ages 15 - 16 years. The Micro Mites, Pee-wees, Bantams and Midgets can still use more players. Anyone interested may contact Erling Hansen at 939-3167.

Leagues will continue until the end of June and then resume again in September.

LADIES AND MEN'S SOCCER

Two ladies soccer teams are being organized and will start meeting soon. The registration fee is six dollars. Practices will start with the basics of learning the game and then some exhibition games will be scheduled. These teams are being formed more for fun and exercise than for strong competitiveness.

A senior men's team is being organized much the same as the ladies.

Anyone interested in joining either men's or ladies may contact Erling Hansen at 939-3167.

THE TEEN'S BOOKSHELF New Paperbacks

I Was a 98 Pound Duckling by Jean Van Leeuwen, Dell Publishing Co., I Trissy by Norma Fox Mazer, Dell Pub., Confessions of an Only Child by Norma Klein, Dell; I'll Get There, It Better Be Worth the Trip, John Donovan, Dell Pub., A Hero Ain't Nothin' But A Sandwich by Alice Childress, Avon Publishing; The 50 Meter Monsters and Other Horrors! edited by Roger Elwood, Archway Paperbacks.

Of the Three stories told from the girl's point of view, I Was a 98 Pound Duckling gives the most to chuckle over. Kathleen was 13 and felt she was on her way to being the first girl in history to play professional basketball if she didn't stop growing soon. Combined with being only 98 lbs. which didn't leave much room for shapely curves, she felt like the original ugly duckling. Her summer at the lake with family and best friend appeared headed for disaster - that is, until she met Keith, who was to be her first date. Every girl who knows what it is like to be 13 and not beautiful, will thoroughly enjoy this story. I, Trissy is the story of an 11 year old told in her own words, typed out on the machine her father gave her when he left home. Trissy uses it to bang out her problems and frustrations that she encounters in her everyday life, both at home with her troublesome brothers and a mother who "doesn't understand her," and at school, quarrelling with her best friend Steffi. She writes it all down here; a sometimes hilariously funny, othertimes very moving story of a young girl's growing up in a difficult situation.

In contrast, eight year old Antonia (Toe for short), the storyteller in Confessions Of An Only Child, has a very happy and secure life with her parents but she's not too happy about the expected new member - her Mom is pregnant and Toe ponders the pros and cons of being an only child. She feels that the coming of the baby will upset her very close family relationships. Her best friend's young sister has shown that babies around the house can cause endless problems. This is a warm, satisfying story that can be enjoyed by all ages.

EUROPEAN TRAVELLERS RETURN

Namao people Barbara and Hugh Crozier and Donnie and Will Wilson are back home from an interesting five weeks in Europe. Flying to Frankfurt, Germany, they took a train to Munster, France to visit old friends of the Wilsons'. Travelling to Lahr they visited former Namao residents, Ann and Art Titus with whom they toured the Black Forest.

Their next stop was Zurich where they were joined by Gene and Nina Manion of Newfoundland for the rest of their holiday. By train again they went through the Alps to Milan and on to Venice and Yugoslavia. Here they rented two cars and drove down the Dalmatian Coast to Dubrovnik, a breathtaking, beautiful drive. From here they flew to Athens, Greece to board a yacht for two weeks sailing in the Cyclade Islands in the Aegean Sea. Journeying back to Athens they toured the area visiting the Acropolis and old museum.

The group then boarded a train for Salzburg, Austria, the third most beautiful city in the world. They were all delighted with the flowers, trees and beauty of each country in the spring and enjoyed the history and culture of each area they toured.

C.G.I.T. & EXPLORER BANQUET

Namao United Church CGIT and Explorer groups held their annual mother and daughter banquet in the Community Hall on May 2, sponsored by the Namao U.C.W. To begin the evening, welcoming remarks were brought by Cheryl Paul, president of Senior CGIT, followed by the introduction of the head table and leaders by Carole Carson, after which everyone joined in singing Grace.

After the banquet a tribute to the church was given by Heather Monaghan, vice president of Jr. C.G.I.T., replied to by Rev. H. Black. Karen Jepsen, president of Jr. C.G.I.T. proposed a toast to the queen and Cheryl Maxfield paid a tribute to the mothers, replied to by her mother, Mrs. Ann Maxfield. Joy Schafer, vice president of Intermediate CGIT gave a tribute to the U.C.W. which was replied to by Mrs. Gladys McLay.

Guest speaker for the evening was Mrs. Myrtle Leadley, a director of Camp He Ho Ha, which was especially interesting for the girls as they raise money to sponsor a disabled person to the camp each summer. Leanne Sim thanked the guest speaker and presented her with the money the girls had raised for this project.

Mrs. Eva Berg conducted the Explorer presentation and pin ceremony. A lively sing-song was led by Mrs.

Gleennie Tweedle and her guitar.

A special presentation followed, a reading of the prize winning essay for the International Year of The Child, by the author, Patty Cameron.

Reports on the year's work were given by leaders of C.G.I.T. and Explorers. The devotional was led by Sheila Cameron, secretary of the Intermediate C.G.I.T. followed by the closing benediction by Rev. H. Black.

The Explorer and C.G.I.T. groups are non-denominational and all girls in the district are invited to join when they reorganize in the fall.

Library News

boy on the brink of manhood. On the death of his grandmother with whom he had been living for the past seven years, Davy is sent to live with his divorced mother in a New York City apartment. With him goes his dachshund Fred, the only thing left of warmth and friendship, for his mother, embittered by her life, has turned to alcohol. At school he meets Douglas Altschuler who shares with Davy the loneliness of a broken home and they find themselves drawn closer together by their need for love and companionship. This is a compassionate story of a young boy's growing-up experiences in a lonely world.

The protagonist of A Hero Ain't Nothin' But A Sandwich, is 13 year old Benjie, a drug addict, living in a poor area of New York. Written in colloquial language, the bitterness of the Negro's situation comes through in the viewpoints given by each of the people who are in contact with Benjie, most of whom are actively concerned in getting him "back to normal." Through each of the brief stories told by his mother, stepfather, school-teachers and neighbours one learns something of Benjie's lifestyle and the situation in which he has grown up, and why he has turned to drugs as a solution. The story ends on a hopeful note, achieved through loving and caring.

The last book is a horror story of a different kind. The 50 Meter Monster and Other Horror Stories is subtitled "six tales of terror." Not all of them could be considered really scary, but some of the outstanding ones are The Spider Ring, in which a peddler loans a magical ring to a young boy who saved his life. The ring must be returned at the end of a month or his index finger is forfeited. When the peddler's monkey comes to claim the ring, Tom is loath to return it - as to his finger? Well, you'll have to read what happened yourself. The Museum tells of the hobby of a strange boy "who collects humans and preserves them in his old house," while The Most Horriblest Monster, and The 50 Meter Monster, deal with past and present. The Whispering Sea, is a ghost story to give you something to dream about. The final story Feeding Time, in which a thirsty vampire prowls the halls of an orphanage, will delight any monster lover. Some stories are much better than others, but they are definitely not for bedtime reading if you are liable to suffer nightmares!

620 GRAIN DRILL

Take the positive approach to seeding.

With one of the biggest capacities in the industry (11.2 to 40.6 bushels), the 620 Grain Drill comes in 8, 10, 12 and 14-foot sizes. Choose plain grain hopper or combination hopper with 2-position divider for adjusting grain and fertilizer ration.

Centre-mounted forecarriage high flotation wheels provide a three-point suspension that allows the drill to follow ground contours in uneven terrain. Because the forecarriage wheels don't run in the tractor tracks, compaction is reduced and you seed closer to wet spots.

Zigzag double disk openers with front delivery wheels place seeds in the bottom of the furrow for quick germination. Also, end-wise transport means less time getting there - available for use on 10, 12 or 14-foot drills to allow easy moving of up to 42-feet of drill width.

Other features include exclusive IH feed cup and drop bottom for easy clean-out of fertilizer to prevent corrosion.

SCHOOL BUS DRIVERS

We knew very little about these folks till the weekend. After observing Glen Gabbey on the tour, we've come to the conclusion that school bus drivers have: the eyes of an eagle, hands of steel, the patience of Job, the cool of a cucumber, and (in self-preservation) must be a little deaf. Hats off to all school bus drivers.

FIRE DEPARTMENT NEEDS MORE VOLUNTEERS - ESPECIALLY WOMEN

We've been talking to Don and Bev Lazeta about the volunteer fire brigade. It was formed about five years ago, and has definitely filled a need in the Park. Past history is a little sketchy, but since Don became chief last October they have been collecting as much data as possible.

At present there are 30 members (seven of these ladies) who are taking training, including St. John's first aid.

Don tells us community support has never been better. Financial support comes from Sturgeon M.D. in the way of the new truck and a $2,000 yearly grant.

In the past two years the volunteers have attended 40 fires.

Bev joined the department almost at the beginning and Don shortly after, when his work no longer took him out of town.

Although he's very pleased with the interest Park residents are showing, Don says there is still a need for more daytime members. This is where the ladies are important.

We think it sounds like a great idea. You don't have to be an Amazon. You'd get first aid training, and what could be handier, with all these little people at home? Bev says they have a ball. (Makes it sound a little like that episode of Lucille Ball and Vivian Vance).

Perhaps the ladies would never be world-beaters, but it seems there wouldn't be such a sense of panic in an emergency if we knew something about it.

BAND TOUR

Twenty-seven members of the advanced band from Namao Junior High went to Westlock and Fox Creek over the weekend of May 4, 5 and 6.

Along with Mr. and Mrs. Carson and Mrs. Woycenko, Art and I were lucky enough to go along as chaperones. We saw the kids in action and met some grand people who billeted them.

Patty Wiese has done a fine job with this band. No slouch as a conductor either, she gave the kids "Carumba" one day, and 118 members of the massed bands (Fox Creek and Namao) played it in concert the next day. It did get a bit frantic setting up rehearsal for 111 kids, but Bev Mann, the Fox Creek music teacher, soon had that under control.

Pam Gabbey's bells rounded out the band very nicely. Bonnie, Lisa, Leslie and the other girls on the flutes, played well and looked gorgeous, in their lovely frocks.

We were much impressed with the department of the whole group. The boys cooperated in loading the bus and setting up. The girls acted like the ladies they are. Any parent who had a youngster on the tour should be popping a button or two.

WATERING

To prevent a shortage in the warm weather, the Park management reminds us that the odd and even days for watering will be in effect again this season.

KINDERGARTEN MEETING

There is to be a meeting for kindergarten parents on May 16. Helen Panchell has the information on that.

WIENER ROAST

Next weekend being the first long weekend will see mass exodus, and then the 26th clean-up wiener roast.

MOM'S DAY

Wasn't it a beautiful day for Mom? The sun shone and our little neighbours went to Grandma's house.

If you're out back digging crab grass and get handed an orchid, you know "Mommings" is a pretty good job. Then the grandchildren come tramping in (all two of 'em) with kisses and packages and it matters not a whit if it's Christmas or shower gift-wrapped.

Till next time, keep diggin' and remember - motherhood's O.K.

Mobile greenhouse is unique concept

"If people don't come to you, go to the people" is the philosophy of Morinville Market gardener Jim Marles. Proprietor of a successful market gardening enterprise, Mr. Marles found Morinville ideal for raising his plants but somewhat out of the way for the buying public. That is when he hit upon the idea of designing and building a mobile greenhouse capable of holding up to 1700 packs of bedding plants and two dozen hanging baskets.

The first mobile greenhouse of its type ever built, is constructed of aircraft aluminium and hexan plastic riveted together. The entire greenhouse weighs a mere 1800 pounds and is nine feet high by nine and one half feet wide by 24 feet long. Doors at either end provide easy access for customers.

The mobile greenhouse is even heated with its own self-contained propane heater.

This is the second year that Mr. Marles has operated his greenhouse during the approximately six weeks bedding plant selling period. The concept has been so successful he is considering adding a second unit next year.

baking. Home baking is available at several tables at every market day and provides a good opportunity for the busy homemaker to stock up for the weekend. Fresh eggs are also on hand and some winter stored vegetables. Be sure to pick up a market bag; get it dated with your purchase and bring it back every week. The bag with the most dates will win its owner a prize at the end of the season.

Gibbons Library News

Several of the senior citizen residents in the Spruceview Lodge have recently joined the Gibbons Public Library, and a warm welcome is extended to them.

There are a number of large print books on the shelves and if they prove to be popular, more will be purchased. Two popular mystery novels are in large print: The Snare of the Hunter by Helen MacInnes and Circus by Alistair MacLean. Also you will find Knight's Acre by Norah Loft, Nightwork by Irwin Shaw, The House of a Thousand Lanterns by Victoria Holt and The Last Showdown by western writer Max Brand. Assistance in locating these books will be gladly given by the librarian on duty.

On the pocket book racks there are a few books marked "Easy Eye." The print is not as large as that in the hardcover books, but larger than in the regular pocket books.

One member of the library board, Linda Williams has tendered her resignation as she and her family will be moving from the area. Two new members were appointed recently: Sharon Speirs and Chris Mair. Sharon has worked as a volunteer on Wednesday afternoons for several weeks. More volunteers are always needed. Those who showed an interest in the library at the recent Community Supper are invited to drop into the library, introduce yourselves, and find out what kinds of jobs have to be done. The more help available, the better the service to the community. Interested people may also call Pat Wandler, 923-2626.

Several books are on the overdue list. Those who have them will be contacted in the next few weeks and requested to return them as several of these books have been requested by other patrons.

Check the "new books" shelf -- many have been added and many more are on order. Let us know what kind of books you like, and we will try to get them for you. Books may also be borrowed through inter-library loan services. Ask the librarian on duty for assistance.

The Gibbons Public Library is open Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. and on Wednesday and Saturdays from 1 to 3 p.m. Children's story hour is Saturday, 1 to 2 p.m.

No. 524 Sturgeon Air Cadets On Parade

On April 25, #524 cadets from Redwater attended the Redwater talent night providing help with ushering and at the door. During the evening, cadets also marched on stage and Sgt. D. Russell spoke a few words on the benefits and aims of the air cadet movement.

Belated congratulations to WO2 Trent McHardy who was promoted from Flight

Sergeant at the last promotion night.

If you have missed the presence of our training officer for the last two weeks, Lt. E. Mortimer is presently on tour in Germany with the University Concert Choir. He will be back with us before the final inspection.

#524 Sturgeon squadron will be sponsoring a blood donor clinic in Bon Accord on Tuesday, June 12, from 6:30 - 8:30 p.m. in the Community Centre.

Preparations are well underway for the final inspection and display to be held on Sunday, May 27 at 1:30 p.m. in the Gibbons School. Friends, relatives and other interested people are cordially invited to attend this very important occasion.

Gibbons Library has new books for kids

A good percentage of the membership card holders of the Gibbons Public Library are children. Several new books have been added in recent weeks for young readers.

In the non-fiction section you will find the "Let's Visit Series." These books are small in size but easy to read and give an interesting picture of various countries. They cover the geography and history, the industries and government, as well as some of the local customs and religions of other parts of the world.

Another set of books appealing to young people is the National Geographic Society Books for Young Explorers Series. Four have been purchased to date: "Dinosaurs," containing pictures and stories of the animals that roamed the earth before man, also gives the pronunciation of the names of these creatures. "Treasures of the Sea" takes you to another habitat -- the colourful and vital world of fish, deep sea creatures and undersea flora. "Lion Cubs" will interest readers who have likely never seen these animals outside of a zoo. This book shows them in their natural habitat. "Dogs Working for People" describes some of the many ways in which dogs are used to help people: as watch-dogs, as sheep herders, police dogs and so on.

If you ever wondered why a bruise turns the colour it does, or how a cut heals, read "Ouch!". Written by Rita Golden Gelman and Susan Kovacs Bunbaum, the book tells how your body reacts and why it acts the way it does when bumped or injured.

For young children who enjoyed having stories read to them, there are three new additions in the "Little Bear" series. The children are also invited to come to Story Hour on Saturdays from 1 to 2 p.m. when Michelle Aysant will read to them.

The library is open Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. and on Saturdays and Wednesdays from 1 to 3.

St. Albert Legion Park

Baseball dream come true

For a number of years officials of the St. Albert Minor Baseball Association have been working for the establishment of a first class baseball park. Unfortunately, until this year, there were too many roadblocks, the most noteworthy, being the lack of suitable land for such a park.

Early in 1979 it was evident, with the advent of the Summer Games, that the time was right to renew their efforts. A facility committee under the chairmanship of Bert LaBuick was formed. Members of the committee are Lorne Ross, president of S.A.M.B.A., Ben Tooth and Denny Cockwill. The committee met with members of the St. Albert Legion to gain support for a Park Plan designed by Ben Tooth. Enthusiastic support was gained from the Legion and the city was approached to determine if the necessary

The sites are Mission Courts in St. Albert (two tourneys), Allendale, Capilano and Rio Terrace, with the first tournament May 20 and 21 at the Mission Courts.

St. Albert Men's Fastball underway

The Greater St. Albert Men's Fastball League kicked off its first ever season Monday night with a pair of games played in Namao due to St. Albert diamonds being unavailable.

L.B.H. Builders, behind the strong pitching of Lennie Grew and the hitting of Al Palce and John Prusak, squeaked by Trail Leisure Products Ottocrats by a 3-2 score.

Grew, who did not have a complete game last year, went all the way on the mound for the win allowing six scattered hits while picking up three strike-outs.

Builders scored a pair of runs in the first winning with lead-off batter John Johnson reaching first via the walk and moved to second on an infield error by the Ottocrat first baseman. Big John Prusak then drove a double into left field scoring Johnson and Grew.

Ottocrats got on the scoreboard in the fifth inning with Brian Kupsch reaching first on a Builder error and then scored on back-to-back. Please Turn to Page B 12

On Sports

WHAT ARE THOSE RANGERS TRYING TO DO? ... give me a heart attack. Look you Broadway Blues, you just don't go into the Montreal Forum and win a Stanley Cup game. It's just not done. So don't do it anymore. Please!

But then you have to give the Rangers a lot of credit. They have absolutely nothing to lose. They aren't expected to win the Cup, but the Montreal Canadiens are. So you can expect a heck of a series. In fact, I have a feeling this series will be one of the best, if not THE best, Stanley Cup finals in this decade. The two teams are the only two in the NHL that can free-wheel at will in my opinion. I hope I don't eat crow ... the Canadiens will win in seven games.

On the other side of the coin ... there's those #&$%!* Edmonton Oilers. I don't understand that. The Oilers have proved to the rest of the WHA that they are the best team this year, so why don't they show it in the playoffs?

The big blame for their less than spectacular showing in their final series with the Winnipeg Jets must go to Glen Sather. Sather is a good coach in many ways, but he can't motivate his players, or get their adrenalin going like some of the other coaches ... especially Tom McVie of the Jets.

I WAS AT A SUMMER GAMES KICK-OFF dinner last Thursday in Spruce Grove ... a dinner that had all the zone sports chairmen and chairwomen in attendance. Some of the St. Albert Games Board people were there too. Most of the sport chairpeople had things under control as far as the organization of the zone finals before the Games. But ... some are having difficulties getting through to people in letting them know how to enter competition to represent our zone. Sports such as golf, equestrian and shooting. If you would like to enter in any sport, give the Games office at the Percy Page Centre a buzz ... they'll point you in the right direction.

As an example, the finals for the equestrian event will be in Namao, so that's not too far away for anyone in this area. If you have a horse that can do neat things under your command, maybe it would be worth your while to compete. After all ... we all should get into the Games spirit in some way.

HERE'S AN INTERESTING "GAMES" TIDBIT ... most of the Summer Games chairpeople met at the Touch Inn for breakfast on Saturday morning, then hopped on a bus for a tour of the Games venue sites. All went well, the chairpeople enjoyed it, but to top it off ... they were served "box lunches". The very same box lunches the Games athletes and officials will be served from August 2 - 6.

Jerry Manegre, publicity man of the Games Board, told me, and I quote, "I really enjoyed it." The box lunch consists of a submarine sandwich, an apple, a refreshment (what kind I don't know) and a granola bar. Other quotes from Jerry include, "It was most filling," "I think the athletes will enjoy them" and last but not least, "The buns were real fresh." Typical stuff from a PR man.

The group visited all the St. Albert venue sites and the Namao Gun Club in the morning, broke for the box lunches, then went on to visit Sandy Beach (canoe races), Devon (more canoe races on the North Saskatchewan River), Glory Hills (archery), and the Spruce Grove Gun Club.

I've just heard that Premier Pete will be on hand to officially open the Summer Games on Thursday, August 2. Minister of Parks and Wildlife, Peter Trynchy will be there too ... and so will Culture Minister Mary Le Messurier. The ceremony will take place at the track, between SAM and V.J.M. schools.

IS IT THAT TIME OF THE YEAR ALREADY? Just received a note from someone in Morinville informing me of a curling bonspiel ... in June. That's right, a June bonspiel. I'm not sure if it's end of the year of beginning of a new season.

The winner apparently, will win a trip to Las Vegas. Two notables who are supposed to compete will be Paul Devlin and Darwin Daviduk. More on this spiel later.

Builders scored what turned out to be the winning run in the bottom of the fifth when Al Paice led off with a single into centrefield that he turned into a double with some fine base running.

Mitch Scott moved Paice over to third on a sacrifice bunt down first baseline and a deep fly ball to left field by Lenny Grew scored Paice.

Ottocrats picked up a run in the sixth on singles by Dale and Pat Lawson and threatened in the seventh with base runners on first and second before Dale Lawson filed out to Mitch Scott to end the game.

Rick Young took the loss for the Ottocrats allowing only four hits and getting four by strike-outs.

In the other game played in Namao, the hometown Trojans had no trouble with the Trophy Bank Colt 45's as they hammered out a 17-5 win.

Trojans scored in every inning but the fourth as they dominated most of the game.

Wayne Graves was the winning pitcher allowing five Colt 45's hits while striking out five.

Andre Bonneau led the Trojans at the plate with a three run homer in the second inning and also added a two-run single in the fifth.

Colts scored four of their five runs in the fifth on a two run single by Bill Dart. Two came via the error route.

Bill Benview took the loss with Ron Boychuck coming into relieve midway through the game.

The other four teams in the league will play their season openers tonight in another double header scheduled for the diamond at Akinsdale Park, with St. Albert A's taking on the St. Albert Blue Jays in the first game starting at 6:30 sharp while the St. Albert Territorial Jrs. will play Morinville I.C.S. immediately following.

Games will also be played Wednesday and Thursday, although its not sure as we go to press just where they will be played. There also is the possibility they will be both cancelled so that all teams can have their players down at the new Meadowview ball park to help lay sod.

C.K.S.T. Radio will have full details of the schedule.

In the middle of June, Bill will be starting his own small pro shop in the clubhouse at the Mission courts. He will carry a limited line of tennis clothing, balls, racquets and accessories. When he gets a new stringing machine, he will be able to string racquets for club members and non-members.

His junior tennis tournament program has been spread out to other areas other than St. Albert to free local courts from constant tournament use. Osborne expects about 60 players at each tournament, which has categories for 18 and under and 14 and under players, in girls and boys singles, and girls and boys doubles. The tournaments are for beginners and novice players.

DIAL BEFORE YOU DIG. THERE'S A LOT AT STAKE.

If you operate heavy machinery, it's more important than ever that you call your gas company before you break ground.

Because if you don't, you run the very real risk of damaging a gas main and being responsible for an accident which could cost thousands of dollars in damage and downtime. Or cut off the gas supply to an entire community.

Or cause dangerous explosions and loss of life — possibly your own.

So make sure that you call your gas company's Pipe Locator Team at least 48 hours before you dig.

They'll stake out the alignment of all gas lines in the locality so you can dig in safety.

The service is free. Please use it. There's a lot at stake.

Langes split opening fastball double header

Edmonton Langes and the Camrose Merchants each came up with a victory in the opening double header of the Western Major Fastball League Sunday afternoon at Renfrew Park. Langes won the opener

3-0 on an excellent four hitter by Ken Hunka and a two run homer over the centrefield fence by Cal Lange. Lawrence Nellis, Bill Dunbar and Laurie Rogers all came up with two hits each off loser Peter Brown. Brown did a little better at the plate as he had a pair of singles.

Merchants came on at the plate in the second game as Marty Kernighan, Clint Marshall and Jim Godspodar all had home runs in a 5-3 win over the Langes.

Langes runs were all as a result of the long ball with Bob Burrows leading the attack with a two-run blast while Lawrence Nellis had a solo shot.

In other W.M.F.L. openers, Wetaskiwin Car Capitals swept a pair of games from defending champion Red Deer Yamahas by identical 3-2 scores while the Regina Molson's thumped the Saskatoon Jacks 5-0 and 7-2.

Langes' next home game will be tonight against the same Camrose Merchants with the game to start at 7 p.m. at South Side Industrial Park.

Winnipeg Colonels will be in town against the Langes this Sunday with both games at South Side Industrial. The first game goes at 1:30 p.m.

Tennis singles tournament

The opening club singles tournament was held this past weekend and the 27 participants had many games in the combination three event - round robin tournament. The winner of the open men's event was Peter Miller who defeated Bob Sage in the final. The open ladies winner was Betty Ontkian who defeated Judy Wood in the final. The B men's winner was Dave Rudge over Blair Henderson; B ladies winner was newcomer Mairi Pender over Angela Miller; the C men's winner was Ron Riley over Derm Begley. The tournament saw some upsets (with C players defeating B etc.), which sometimes happens in early season tournaments.

Interclub players who have not picked up their information sheets will likely receive them this week. Players of all ability levels are reminded that if they are not on a team and wish to be, they must challenge and defeat an interclub player.

The junior high tournament will be held Saturday, May 26. Four boys and four girls per grade per school will be allowed to participate. Talk to your school physical education teacher for further information. The entry deadline is Wednesday, May 23. Participants must be able to play (that is get their serve in most of the time!) Entry fee is 50¢ per student. The girls will play at Akinsdale and the boys at Mission. Grade 7 - 9 a.m., Grade 8 - 1 p.m., must enter through their school. Grade 9 - 3:30 p.m. Players school.

land could be made available. Working with the Department of Parks and Recreation, it was learned that land was available in the new Woodlands Subdivision for a park and the necessary encouragement was given to continue working on the project.

YEAR ROUND FACILITY

While primarily interested in providing baseball facilities and a home for St. Albert minor baseball, the committee realized a need for a more encompassing park.

The park when completed will have two fenced in senior size baseball diamonds. One diamond will contain a raised pitcher's mound and a grassed infield. This diamond can be used by bantam, midget, bison and senior ball teams. The second diamond will have a skinned infield and will be suitable for all types and sizes of baseball. At the conclusion of the baseball season, goal posts can be erected and portable stands can be rearranged to accommodate soccer and football teams.

Permanent bleachers, washrooms, and concession stands are eventually to be part of the complex. A picnic area with tables and fire pits are planned for the riverside portion of the park. Not only will these facilities be available in the summer months, but also in the wintertime for use by cross country skiers and others using the river area for winter recreation. The park will be a point on the Waskahagan Trail and will eventually be part of the Red Willow Park system.

SUMMER GAMES PRIME FACTOR

There is no doubt that St. Albert having the Summer Games was one of the prime factors in constructing the park at this time. Baseball, at the midget division level, is included as a Summer Games sport and the first diamond will be completed in time for the Games.

Completion of the park will also see the beginning of the phase out of Mission ball diamond.

THREE PARTY EFFORT

Obtaining the Park has been a three party effort with the City, St. Albert Minor Baseball Association, and the St. Albert Legion all performing an integral part. The St. Albert Minor Baseball Association will be providing, in addition to their baseball program, technical assistance, and volunteer labour in building and maintaining the facility. The St. Albert Legion will be contributing funds for the facilities. An initial "five year plan" has been established for the Legion's involvement and fund raising projects have already commenced. The City, of course, is providing the major portion of the financing for the construction of another first class recreational facility in the city.

President Ross states that the St. Albert Minor Baseball Association is most thankful to the City and the St. Albert Legion for their co-operation in obtaining the facility.

This is a model of the two diamond St. Albert Legion Baseball Park.

Bantam Lacrossers busy

Last week saw three league games for our Bantam Lacrosse teams - two for the R.M.C. Saints, and one for the Toros. All three games were played at the Crestwood Arena in Edmonton.

The 'Saints' first game was against Gold Bar, a very strong and experienced Edmonton team; and the final score was 14 to 1 in favor of Gold Bar. In their second game, played against West Edmonton, the teams were more evenly matched, with West Edmonton winning 6 to 3.

On Thursday, May 10, the Toros played their first game of the season against South Edmonton, and came away with a 14 to 4 victory. The Toros meet Enoch tonight at 8:45 p.m. in the Perron Street Arena; and on Thursday, the Saints and Toros play each other at Perron at 6:30 p.m. With the friendly rivalry that exists between these two home teams; this should be a super game, and all St. Albert fans are welcome to come cheer the boys on.

In the Novices, a game scheduled for May 9 against Enoch was postponed; but they will be playing tonight at 6:30 p.m. at Perron Street.

Girls soccer team blanks Grove

Grove on Monday night by a 4-0 score.

Heidi Worsforde picked up a pair of goals, with singles going to Sharon Van Buren and Dorothy Kirk.

The St. Albert Juvenile Girls soccer team, playing out of the Hercules Sports Association, shut out Spruce Betty-Anne Franssen was selected player of the week.

The club plays in the five team Edmonton Juvenile Girls league, with Beverly, Ajax and the Blue Jays the other three teams.

The next game for the St. Albert girls is tonight at Akinsdale Park at 7:30. Opposition will be the tough Ajax squad.

Local rallyer seventh

The St. Albert rally racing team of Brent Redford and Steve Farrell finished up in seventh place in the Pacific Forest Rally on Sunday.

The rally, which starts and ends in Chilliwack, B.C., saw the B.C. team of Heinonen and Burgess in a Toyota Celica finishing in first with a time of 6250 seconds. Second place went to Vanderwal and Edwards, also of B.C. They were driving an "old" Datsun 510 and had a time of 6557 seconds. Third place, with a time of 6660 seconds, went to Robertson and Gibson of Washington state in a Mazda RX-3.

Brent Redford and Steve Farrell hit the finish line with a time of 6964 seconds in their 1972 Volvo 142E. Redford said of his car following the rally, "It's in the best shape after a pro rally than it's ever been in."

The rally had 25 starters, but only 14 finished the route.

Redford and Farrell will be leaving for the Winnipeg area's "Trail of the Bison Rally" on May 24. The rally is run in the Sandylands area of southern Manitoba. This is the fourth event in the Molson Rally Championships of Canada, and the second event in the "Hella Challenge Performance Rally Championship for the Prairie Region." Redford and Farrell are currently in second place in standings in the Hella series.

Petes take Memorial Cup

Peterborough Petes won their first ever Memorial Cup Sunday with a 2-1 victory over the Brandon Wheat Kings on a goal by Bob Atwell with 2:38 gone in overtime.

Peterborough opened the scoring at 8:12 of the first period on a goal by Tim Trimper, but the Wheat Kings tied the score at 16:50 with Brian Propp scoring on the powerplay.

The second and third periods were scoreless with Hunter in the Wheat Kings goal and Ellacott in net for the Petes' coming up with some excellent saves.

The winning goal came on a shot from the point by Larry Murphy. Hunter stopped it but could not smother the rebound and Atwell fired it home.

Bart Hunter, a pick-up from the Portland Winter Hawks and son of Wild Bill Hunter of Edmonton, was awarded the Stafford Smythe Trophy as the Most Valuable Player of the three-team tournament, and also was selected to the all-star team.

Three Rivers was the other team competing, but lost in their bid to enter the finals due to a poorer goal differential. All three clubs ended round-robin play with identical records of two wins and two losses.

Drillers leap into second place

The Edmonton Drillers, with two wins in five days, have passed the California Surf in the west division of the American Conference in the North American Soccer League.

The Drillers came from a 1-0 deficit Sunday and scored two goals to defeat the visiting Rochester Lancers at Commonwealth Stadium before 9,132 onlookers.

On Wednesday, the Edmonton club beat the inept New England Tea Men 3-1.

Jan Goosens was the hero on Sunday as he fired in both Edmonton goals. The last goal came with just over a minute left in the game.

Rochester opened the scoring in the seventh minute, with Pat Ercoli beating Edmonton goalkeeper Jan Endeman.

The Lancers went into a defensive shell from there on in, and the Drillers began a ferocious attack that netted them a goal after 50 minutes, from Goosens. The goal started from a free kick taken by Dwight Lodeweges. Lodeweges popped the ball into the goalmouth area, and Goosens was there to pick up a free ball and kick it just inside the post.

Goosens second and game winning goal was very similar to his first. Lodeweges sent a free kick just wide of the goal, but Goosens tapped the ball off the side of his foot and into the net from a sharp angle.

The Drillers could have easily won by more, as they had some very good chances.

John Anton was left all alone in front of the net and took a shot that hit the goalpost and bounced back out into play. Striker Lorenz Hikes blasted a low shot from the left of the 18 yard box, but Rochester keeper Shep Messing made a diving save that kept the ball from going into the net.

A crowd of 9,603 watched the Drillers on Wednesday as they battled to a 1-1 halftime draw.

Andy Atuegbu excited the fans as he went into the New England zone single handedly. He fired a hard shot from 15 yards that cleanly beat Tea Men keeper Kevin Keelan in the 34th minute.

The Tea Men evened the count about five minutes later when little Gerry Daly out-footed two Edmonton defenders and Endeman and popped the ball into the goal.

In the second half, Hikes scored two goals to lift the Drillers to the victory.

The first came in the 57th minute when Keelan fired a low goal kick onto the foot of Hikes, who was standing just outside the 18 yard line. Hikes quickly fired the ball past Keelan into the net to give the Drillers a 2-1 lead.

Two minutes later, Driller defender Ron Klinkenberg was ejected from the game after a scuffle with New England's Kevin Walsh. That incident seemed to fire up the Drillers, as they continued to put on the pressure despite playing a man short.

Another New England mistake led to Hikes final goal. A bad back pass from Roger Gibbins to Messing CLASS INFORMATION: (Balls supplied). Classes are limited to 12 per class so register early. In case of rain, the lessons are extended to the next week. Classes are postponed only in case of rain or wet courts (NOT COLD OR WIND). Players must have own racquets and running shoes.

EQUIPMENT:

1. Balls: We recommend buying the Slazenger perma core for good bounce and long lasting qualities. Avoid cheap balls as they lose their bounce very quickly.

2. Racquets: Anything less than $10.00 is probably a poor investment. Young (under 13) or weaker juniors should have a Junior racquet (lighter and smaller grip) or swinging is difficult. Ladies should generally have a smaller grip size and lighter racquet.

Intermediate lessons, leagues and interclub play are available through the tennis club. Phone 459-7624 or 458-7798 for more information.

The Drillers now have a 4-4 record, and are in second spot in the division, two points back of the San Diego California could have shot to first place, but they suffered a 3-0 loss at the hands of the Tea Men on Saturday. San Diego didn't play on the weekend.

The Drillers are in Detroit this weekend for a Saturday game, then will return to Edmonton for three consecutive home games. On Wednesday, May 23, the Drillers will host the Philadelphia

Juniors open with a win

St. Albert Territorial Juniors fastball club opened their Greater St. Albert Men's Fastball league season on the right foot Tuesday night with a 10-4 win over Morinville I.C.S.

Blaine Galbraith was the winning pitcher allowing only five hits, one of which was a home run by Jim Newman.

Barry Alakson led the Juniors at the plate with a triple and single off losing pitcher Glen Romaniuk.

In other action, St. Albert

Nu-West A's shut out St. Albert Blue Jays 8-0 with Randy Schmidt picking up the win allowing just two hits.

Dale Reinbolt led the A's at the plate with a home run and two singles.

No games will be played Thursday so that all players can be down at Meadowview Park to help lay sod. If you would like to help out the Greater St. Albert Men's Fastball League would more than appreciate your support.

SAMBA

Bat Time Stories

as told by Uncle Rick
Geel! Here we are moving into baseball week #3 already - heading for week #4 - and the soon-to-be division split-up that sends the ball teams into "A" and "B" categories and begins a brand new season for Mosquito and Beaver sections.

More on this later - let's get on with business at hand.

RED ROOSTERS STILL ROOSTING

MOSQUITO DIVISION

	W	L	P
LP Red Roosters	5	0	10
Safeway Seals	4	1	8
Melton's M-Mites	4	1	8
Graham Giants	4	1	8
Belmont Bombers	3	2	6
Braves	2	3	4
Royals	2	3	4
Rangers	2	3	4
Buxton Beavers	2	3	4
Sturgeon Meats	1	4	2
Nu-West Homers	1	4	2
Gazette Cards	0	5	0

The Belmont Bombers and the Lacombe Park Red Roosters had a shoot-out this week in Mosquito country near Sir George Simpson School. The Roosters prevailed 18-17. When the smoke had cleared - several tail feathers were still floating in the air from the aftermath. Melton's Mighty Mites had difficulty with the Buxton Beavers before taking a 7-3 "darning" from the river people. Buxton came back to hand the Nu-West Homers a 13-12 gnawing. The hard-luck Gazette Cards almost dealt the Royals a "flushing" - losing only 22-21. The Rangers arrested the Braves 24-8 behind stellar play provided by Kirk Reininger.

Mosquito division head Chuck Jones informed us that the record 12-team Mosquito league will be divided according to team standings after May 31. If you think it's fun now - just wait for the equalization split!

SODBUSTERS TOP BEAVER DIVISION

In about two weeks, the SAMBA Beaver division will be splitting into two equally-talented leagues which should bring game results even more closer than before.

Although the following standings contain some inaccuracies - please stay tuned while we attempt to straighten things out. Thanks to Beaver co-ordinator Vic Hogan's efforts - it looks "something" like this:

BEAVER DIVISION

	W	L	P
Sturgeon Valley
Sodbusters	5	0	10
Crown Well Drillers	4	1	8
Sportshop Cubs	4	1	8
Grandin Mall
Maulers	3	2	6
Neil's Trailer Kings	2	2	4
Mission Ridge
Dodgers	1	3	2
Col. Sander's Bucket	1	2	2
Nu-West Homers	1	1	2
Springer Angels	0	3	0

Strangely enough, we haven't heard "hide nor hair" from the league leading Sturgeon Valley Sodbusters - the Beaver division's unbeaten bunch.

All kidding aside, Coach Ash Khan of the Crown Well Drillers reported their first and only loss was at the hands of the Busters 10-5. Ash said Casey Wheatley hurled a great game. Other than that, the Crown Well Drillers have been bringing in "gushers" rather consistently, including a 16-5 sampling of The Bucket, 32-10 halo-ing of Springers Angels, an 8-7 extra inning "sell out" of the Nu-West Homers. Ash's son Steve brought in Darren Mazur with the winning tally in that one.

Last Monday, Crown gave Photo Sport a 26-4 shattering. However, Coach Kahn indicated that Coach Bert LaBuick's first year cameramen are learning fast under Bert's able direction and are really "developing," no kidding. Hitting heavy for the Well Drillers have been Bryan Oleson (8 for 8 in two games) Gary Smith and Kevin Hoffart. Mazur and Khan clobbered round trippers recently too.

According to Craig Walker, Sportshop Cubs headman, his team received some nifty "chucking" from his able duo of Forrest Tillapaugh and Rob Lacoursiere in a 21-1 roughing of Springer's Angels. Keith Phillips and his Neil's Trailer Kings ran down Mission Ridge 34-16 and barely "10-foured" Photo Sport 10-9. It took a 17 strike out job by moundsman Gary Phillips and Wes Musto to accomplish the come-from-behind feat. Please Turn to Page B 22

OILERS BACK IN SERIES

The Edmonton Oilers romped to an 8-3 win over the Winnipeg Jets last night, and now trail the best of seven Avco Cup series 2-1 in games. John Hughes and Terry Ruskowski had a hard time getting around this Winnipeg Jet in game two of the series, which was played in Edmonton.

In year's past, the Nu-West Homers have been "on the outside looking in" in SAMBA bantam action. Not so, this year.

Coach Jim Barnett's undefeated realtors have been setting sales records all over St. Albert's bantam diamonds. Link Hardware's Blue Jays have been "nested" twice 25 to 5 and 27 to 6.

Neil's Trailer Kings, former champs now in a building year under veteran mentor Pat Lockert, were de-throned 13-4 and 21-2. Touch Inn Tigers roared mightily but not enough as Nu-West caged Coach Mike Weell's baseballers 13-6. Associated Dry Wall Reds of Forest Lawn lost a squeaker to the Homers 6-5 in an already-reported success story.

Circle May 22 and May 24 on your baseball schedule - those dates mark the first get-together between the leagues two unscathed outfits - Nu-West and Pennington's Blasters - the first match is on diamond #23.

Monday night, Dave Rogers pitched a two-hitter for the Ben Tooth - coached Blasters, a close 2-1 pasting of the Associated Dry Wallers. Randy Bochuk's double play and diving catch of a line drive helped the Powdermen's cause. Steven Tooth laced a triple for the game's most solid blow. Pitcher Daryl Carlson was outstanding on the Red's hill but took the loss.

Onoway Merchants	0	3	0
Rochester Rogues	0	3	0

Sunday was a beautiful day for baseball. The Northwest League Midgets took full advantage of it.

The Cardinals of St. Albert took over first place with a twin-bill-win from the Westlock Tigers at Westlock. In the first game, the Cards called on Doug Rechlo who came in to pitch the final three frames for Larry Schuchard when a man reached first on an error, followed by a free trip to first base. The score was tied at 2-2 at that point. Rechlo allowed a couple of hits and a run during his stint on the mound and received credit for the eventual 4-3 win.

"Batting practice" was the order of the day in the Mom's Day second contest. Dave Joliff, Brent Weller, Trent Balog, Doug McCarthy along with Rechlo banged out large numbers of hits, doubles and triples in racing to a 13-1 lead in the second. Matt Wheatley started for the Cardinals, giving way to Schuchard in an attempt to quell a minor Tiger flare-up. Schuchard, in turn, yielded to Rechlo whose steady relief performance "saved" the game at 21-13. Wheatley received credit for the multi-run victory, his second of the season.

A quintet of Westlock twirlers saw duty for Coach Chuck Keller's Tigers - the list included Danny Vandenberg, Steve Baker, Curtis Stadayk, Dave Brock and one other chucker, an unnamed young man who had trouble finding the plate in the fateful second stanza.

In St. Albert, Coach Norm Heimerick's Saints looked sharp in taking both ends of a double bill from the visiting Lanaria Aces. Russ Cockwill and Gerry Gleason combined forces for a 7-3 spading of the Aces with Gleason notching the win. A trio of Saint flingers, Malenchin, Komick and Onyskew took turns on the Mission Park mound, Malenchin carving out the 7-4 triumph.

At Rochester, the Barrhead Broncos galloped for "two" from the hometown Rogues - a close 7-4 first game margin and a 4-0 shutout in the second tilt. Coach Lou Rondeau's Barrhead's are known to have a fine defensive squad.

Fawcett's Midgets had little pity for the new and eager Onoway Merchants. Only three errors were observed in Fawcett's 10-1 and 9-8 double wins Sunday. After a slow season start, Onoway onlookers feel the team is getting it together - spanking new uniforms on their-way should make some difference for Onoway.

Tonight's schedule, all of the single variety, looks something like this:

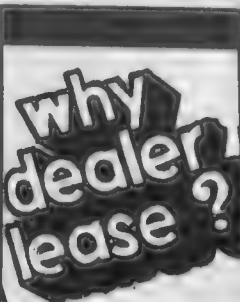

Spruce Grove at Onoway; Westlock at Rochester; St. Albert Cards vs St. Albert Saints at Mission Park field; All games start at 7 p.m.

DUGOUT DIGGINGS DEPT.

Tonight's inter-city rivalry flares anew between Cards and Saints at Mission Park. It could be worth watching. Saints are confident of an upset. Remember last year's exhibition match between same teams - only last year's Saints were bantams ... ball security system in Westlock needs help. Two little jokers on bikes made off with four-tip baseballs in large amounts during Cards-Tiger mix Sunday creating a ball shortage ... Thanks to Jack Joliff and his car snack bar. St. Albert fans were treated to a round of chips and dip (and pop) during Westlock game ... Barrhead's hosting a 12-team midget baseball tourney the last week of June, any takers? Since rumors have St. Frances of Warburg with a midget team, how come Kerry Myers, sensational Spruce Grove fireballing pitcher from Warburg isn't playing on it? Coach Pete Salisney of Spruce Grove was busy scouting Sunday - first in Westlock, then in St. Albert ... worried Peter?

And that concludes our storytelling for this time.

It's obvious - with the good weather at hand that "Diamonds are - more than ever - a boy's best friend" - how does that "ring" you?

Major changes proposed in White Paper on sport

Amateur sport governing bodies were promised greater autonomy under federal sport policy made public recently by Minister of State, Fitness and Amateur Sport, Honourable Iona Campagnolo.

A two-year consultation process has shown that sports bodies want autonomy but require ongoing involvement by government if Canada's full athletic potential is to be realized. The policy paper, entitled "Partners in Pursuit of Excellence," outlines degrees of involvement and a proposal for co-operation by provincial and national sport and government agencies.

"Athletic excellence demands funding and technical expertise beyond the reach of athletes and most volunteer-based associations," the minister said. "We are proposing that sport governing bodies and government meet on new ground in future. Those elements of Sport Canada now in the Fitness and Amateur Sport Branch of Health and Welfare Canada will be transferred to a new Sport Council and to effect this, a Congress of Sport is proposed within the year," Mrs. Campagnolo announced.

The federal government proposes to continue to play a major role in national and international sport, but major changes to the sport structure in Canada will ensure greater flexibility for future growth.

Flexibility, adaptation and change must be commonplace in the growth of amateur sport in Canada. The federal government is prepared to assist, but in a spirit of partnership only, and will not move in isolation of those it serves. The government is prepared to act with sport.

The newly proposed Sport Council will be responsible for matters relating to Canada's participation in national and international amateur sport. It will also work closely with those national sport associations which are dedicated to the pursuit of excellence at these levels of competition. Moreover, the creation of the Council will permit a greater degree of flexibility in hiring and in the general administration of sports activities.

Highlights of the White Paper include proposals for a more decisive role for Canadian universities in the Canadian sport system, and a National Sport Trust for the future financial security of sport. The paper also proposes a system of assistance to developing nations in sport expertise and continued encouragement of the private sector to secure a place of prominence in sport assistance.

The White Paper recognizes that excellence in international competition cannot be pursued unless the whole fabric of Canadian sport is vigorous and thriving. Partnership cannot be confined to national sport associations and umbrella groups but must also extend to provincial governments, regional and provincial associations and local groups.

The minister also announced that the Report of the Canadian Hockey Review Committee would be made public in the upcoming weeks.

Games track will be better, not worse, protests builder

St. Albert's running track for the Alberta Summer Games will be better than the first one planned, not worse, says one of the men in charge of building it.

Jim Derkatch of Standard General Construction says St. Albert city aldermen were wrong in thinking at their last council meeting that a revised, lower bid which they approved for building the track means that it will be of lower quality.

"In my estimation it's a higher quality track than they'd be getting in the first instance," Mr. Derkatch said. The better quality results from machine-formed concrete for the track's curbing rather than manually-formed materials.

Mr. Derkatch said making the curb with machines rather than by hand will reduce the cost so much that the track will have an outer as well as inner curb now. In addition, so much money can be saved that Standard General will be using almost two-and-a-half times as much concrete in building both of the curbs.

"We've spent hours on this thing trying to get it economical and reasonable," he said. "People have to know they're getting a good track."

Mr. Derkatch said the city's engineering consultants in charge of designing the Games facilities, MTB Consultants, had asked for a track that was far too narrow to be practical and of such uncommon dimensions that it had to be hand-formed.

Standard General has countered with their own design, modelled after two running tracks that they've already built in Red Deer and Calgary. In their design, the curbing will be nine inches high; an inch higher than MTB's specifications. It will be eight inches wide at the base; twice as wide as MTB's, and six inches wide at the top; three times as thick as what MTB asked for.

The increased thickness, Mr. Derkatch said, will mean that the curb will stand up to much more wear and will be less likely to tilt to one side.

The addition of an outer curb will be valuable too, he said, because it will look much better esthetically and it will keep the rubberized track surface from being exposed to the weather.

Mr. Derkatch noted that a report which told council that a retaining wall which had been in the original designs would be missing to cut costs was also wrong. That retaining wall will still be built, he said, but it will be made of timber instead of concrete. The wall is necessary because part of the track will cut into the side of a hill.

Estimates of Standard General's bids to build the track were also presented inaccurately at the last council meeting, Mr. Derkatch said. The way that items were listed in council correspondence, he said, led one to believe that Standard General's original bid was $412,301.20 instead of the $345,501.20 that they actually asked for.

In the same way Standard General's second bid was $291,883.70 and not the $358,683.70 figure that one might assume. The additional costs, he said, will be borne by the city and should not have been represented as part of Standard General's asking price.

Standard General was the only company to submit a bid among 11 that were approached. The Games project was too specialized for some contractors, too big of a commitment for others, and

TRACK UNDERWAY

Summer Games Chairman Dick Fowler (left) and St. Albert Mayor Ron Harvey were on hand Thursday to mark the official start to construction of the new Track and Field facility on Sir Winston Churchill Boulevard.

didn't allow enough time for the rest, according to an MTB report.

Mr. Gerkatch said Standard General must have the track completed in less than a month. Workers have just hit frost in their digging and that is creating some problems but they're still planning for June 15, he said.

Canada Fitness Awards to be updated

A complete revision of the Canada Fitness Awards was announced recently by the Honourable Iona Campagnolo, Minister of State, Fitness and Amateur Sport.

The Canadian Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation will be conducting the study over the next few months, on behalf of the Fitness and Amateur Sport Branch of Health and Welfare Canada.

Approximately 150 schools randomly selected by Statistics Canada will participate in the study. In turn this will entail the testing of some 12,000 school children from all of the provinces and territories.

The results of the study, which coincides with the International Year of the Child, will lead to a major revision of the norms of the Canada Fitness Awards. Measurements will be converted to the metric system and the entire program, including the awards, will be given a striking new look.

The study was originally conducted 14 years ago and eventually led to the establishment of the Canada Fitness Awards. This uniquely Canadian program is still widely used as a means of recognizing children's achievements and motivating them to become physically fit.

The study has three purposes: a) to compare fitness levels of children today with those of similar-aged children of 14 years ago; b) to convert the Canada Fitness Awards from imperial to metric measurements; and c) to add an aerobic capacity test.

Revised materials for the 1979 Canada Fitness Awards are expected to be ready for distribution to Canadian schools early in the fall of 1979.

Ballooners converging on Grande Prairie

The Canadian Hot Air Ballooning championships scheduled for the city of Grande Prairie this summer has become an international sporting event.

Seven foreign pilots from England, Ireland, Sweden and the U.S.A. have registered for the event to be held this July 29 through August 6. Thirty-two Canadian pilots from British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Alberta, Ontario and Quebec have registered. Seventeen Alberta pilots will compete in this highly competitive and colorful event.

Co-sponsored by the Alberta Free Balloonist Society and the Grande Prairie Chamber of Commerce, this will be a community event. Pilots will rely on local residents to act as crew members. Other citizens are involved in organizing a mammoth barbecue, as well as a fly-in breakfast and awards banquet. Terry Williams of the championship committee states that "Hardly a day goes by when we don't have a request from someone to participate with some aspect of this event. We are obviously overshadowing all of the other community efforts and everyone is getting on the bandwagon."

Over 50 balloon pilots are expected to attend what will be the largest ballooning event in Canadian history.

Pot handles go inward

A pot or a pan on the stove is a temptation to children. They will reach up and pull the pan of cooking food on themselves or tip the pot full of boiling liquid. This is Child Safety Week and the Canada Safety Council says make sure that all pot and pan handles are turned inwards on the stove.

ON-THE-JOB TRAINING

In a number of industries, new employees come in for one-the-job training. It is assumed that the apprentice will come up against problems, and will be able to go to his "tutor" for help.

Generally, the on-the-job trainee doesn't pull his own weight for a long time. His employer accepts this on the assumption that, once trained, the worker will give good service.

In real estate, there is the homeowner who wants to sell his own house. He is inexperienced in this work--and he has no one to train him to do it. In the course of trying to sell, it is understandable that he will come up against problems. But he has no "tutor" to help him.

When this "trainee" makes mistakes, there is no one to bail him out. And when a home is worth many thousands of dollars, the mistakes can be big ones.

Would you want your biggest investment handled by an inexperienced on-the-job trainee? List with the professionals at
